Ordinary handicap form. Reverting to front-running tactics, SNOW BAY made all and stayed on strongly. Following up his win last month in an amateurs’ claimer at Cagnes-Sur-Mer, he is in good heart at present and on his best form will not be handicapped out of things after a rise for this. Topweight Guest Book was never quite able to get to the winner but he stuck his neck out well to hold second. This was just his seventh run and there is more to come from him. Elijah Pepper has had a good winter on the Polytrack and was 8lb higher than when last seen on turf, although he was a pound well in. Following a tardy start, he was battling for second up the straight without finding a change of pace. Northern Fling, eased 2lb since the end of last season, is probably suited by a stiffer gallop. Danderek, who is lightly raced on turf, looked something of a tricky ride. Lingfield winner Prince Apollo was readily held off this 6lb higher mark and looked less than straightforward.

This looked a fairly competitive handicap on paper, but SHE’S A CHARACTER, who hadn’t won since taking a maiden on her debut at this track back in June 2009, made a mockery of her current, career-low mark, bolting up by four lengths. A straight trackclearly suits her best, and it wouldn’t be a surprise to see her go in again now that she’s back in form. Frontline Girl did nothing but improve from the second half of last season, and it appears that she remains on an upward curve. She bumped into one here, but put up a solid effort in defeat and may be capable of better still back on softer ground. Very Well Red, in good form on the all-weather of late and well handicapped on her best turf form from last year, kept on well to the line and probably ran right up to her mark. Law Of The Range, up there all the way, wasn’t given a hard ride once her chance of winning had gone, which her place backers won’t have been happy about. She remains open to further improvement. Song To The Moon ran all right with the blinkers back on, but she needs to find some improvement from somewhere to win off her current mark. Golden Aria, not for the first time, raced far too keenly early, and one wonders if she’ll ever win again if she doesn’t learn to settle. Viewing is entitled to come on for the run, but she doesn’t start the year particularly well handicapped. Snow Magic could have done with a stronger gallop as she’s proven over 1m2f. It didn’t help that she was keen in behind the leaders either, because when she was let down there was nothing left in the tank.

They didn’t seem to go a great pace in this (the winning time was 2. 58 seconds slower than the preceding 86-105 handicap) and few got into it, but it provided a thrilling finish between two masters of their respective trades. EDGEWATER came into this on a losing run of 17, but he ran his best race for some time when narrowly beaten at Windsor 12 days earlier. He had to be woken up by Ryan Moore soon after turning in, but eventually responded to hit the front over a furlong out and battled on well with jump jockeys snapping at his heels on both sides. Uncle Fred, raised 2lb for his narrow success on his Windsor reappearance, was given a patient ride by Tony McCoy. It looked like it might pay off when he was produced with a withering run downthe wide outside inside the last 2f, but the winner pulled out just a bit more. Beaumont’s Party, making his debut for the yard after six months off, raced keenly but was travelling better than anything passing the 2f pole. However, he didn’t findas much off the bridle as had looked likely and was forced to give best to two race-fiv rivals. Beaver Patrol has won first time out in the past, but all nine of his wins have all been over 5f or 6f. Soon in front and clear at halfway, he wasn’t hassled for the advantage and that was probably why he stayed in the thick of the action right to the bitter end. There was a lengthy gap back to Super Duplex who was off the bridle at halfway and may need a stiffer test these days. [DB].

The top-weight was rated 9lb below ceiling for the race so this wasn’t quite as good a contest as the conditions suggested. BOSAMBO, 3lb well in at the weights following his decent effort at Redcar, travelled well off the pace and was brought to challenge going really well. His rider didn’t have to get serious at all to encourage him to quicken clear, and he won with plenty in hand. He’ll get a hefty rise for this, but should be able to go in again under a penalty. Another Citizen faced an impossible task against the easy winner as it turned out, but he ran a solid race in defeat on this step up in trip, and stamina didn’t seem to be a problem. Lady Gar Gar has run at this track three times now and hasn’t been quite at her best on any of those occasions. Tarantella Lady, on her handicap debut, weakened out of contention but rallied a little in the closing stages. City Legend might just be held off his current mark.

A small field and the fact a fairly exposed sort was able to run out a ready winner doesn’t say a great deal for the overall form. The pace was on the steady side in the first half of the race. MALICE OR MISCHIEF has certainly been a good claim, this his fifth win since being picked up by current connections. He’ll be back up into the 80s once reassessed for this so may find it tough in handicaps near to hand, although connections always have the option of returning him to claimers. Shewalksinbeauty showed she retains her ability on her return, proving her stamina for 1m into the bargain, but she essentially hasn’t progressed since her debut win last year and there’s no obvious indication she’s going to prove much better than this. Great Shot could do with settling better to fulfil his potential, pulling hard in the first half of the race here and seeing things out pretty well under the circumstances. There’s some speed and stamina in his pedigree but a drop back to seven furlongs is unlikely to inconvenience him at this stage. Sinfonico showed ability in maidens at two, his best effort when runner-up over 7f on Polytrack at Kempton, and might have been expected to do better on his return, fading having made the running. Royal Opera has yet to show anything this year, but the handicapper should at least start to relent.

A fairly useful handicap run at a decent clip with the complexion of the race changing well inside the last as the course record set earlier by Avon River tumbled. ZEBRANO found this race developing more in his favour than it had at Ripon last time and he did more than enough to suggest he'll prove capable of defying a mark higher than the 82 he won off on all weather recently granted similar circumstances, well on top at the line whilst still seemingly saying something for himself. It wouldn't bea surprise if he was to improve further at 1m2f. Tariq Too left his previous handicap form (on soft ground) behind on his comeback and is lightly raced to think he'll improve some more this year, beaten not by lack of a recent run but by a better horse at the weights. He'd also be of interest back on Polytrack next time. Guided Warrior made a gallant bid to make all the running and clearly retains enough zest to think he'll pop up at some stage this season when able to dictate more as he likes. Tewin Wood wasn't able to get the lead on this occasion but still ran well under a penalty in a stronger race than he had won at Yarmouth recently, so continues on good form. Yes Chef was a shade disappointing and didn't impress with his head carriage while Beaver Patrol isn't on a bad mark but is better at 7f.

Rail movement increased 10f & 12f races by 12yds and 2m race by 16yds. The going was good to firm on a watered track. A decent handicap. They raced up the centre and the favourite scored in good style under a confident hold-up ride. The form looks solid and the winner could be one to follow. SAMURAI SWORD didn't seem to get home over 1m2f on his handicap debut at Sandown but he was impressive, scything his way through the pack before winning with something in hand back at 1m. This Irish Derbyand St James's Palace entry is a scopey type who is now 2-3. He has a good cruising speed and turn of foot and should go on to better things. Tropical Beat showed fighting spirit when winning a 1m Newcastle maiden last month despite looking the stable second string. He raced a bit keenly and looked in trouble some way out on this handicap debut but to his credit he kept fighting and did really well to snatch second. He still has a bit to learn but something has clicked on his last two runs and hisstyle and pedigree suggest he may be suited by moving up to 1m2f. Above All was disappointing in the mud on his final start at two but he confirmed his maiden promise with this good front-running effort on comeback from 192 days off. Obsession fulfilled the promise of his reappearance when scoring with a bit in hand in a 1m AW maiden at Lingfield. He had a lot more to do on handicap debut but stayed on steadily to finish just off the leading trio. He should have scope for further progress in strongly run handicaps. Mama Lulu stayed on nicely from a long way back stepped up to 1m on return from 216 days off. Buckland had every chance but couldn't match the finishing kick of the principals. Buzz Law travelled well into contention but didn't really pick up off 6lb higher than when completing a double in a lower grade at Redcar last month.

The winning time was 0.87 seconds slower than the first division, but it produced just as emphatic a winner. EXTRATERRESTRIAL was 12lb below his last winning mark and had shaped really well over an inadequate 7f on his Doncaster reappearance last month. He was still on the bridle when sneaking through against the inside rail to lead inside the last 2f and soon shot clear. He can defy a higher mark now that he has regained winning form. Academy Blues came into this 1-1 at the track and was always up there. He still had every chance passing the 2f pole, but was then blown away by the resurgent winner. Champagne Style ran better than his finishing position would suggest despite only beating two home over 7f here last time, and also caught the eye here as he was doing all his best work late. He is the one to take from the race apart from the winner. Dream Win enjoyed a productive 2010, but this was his first start since last August. He was in front for a few strides passing the 2fpole before the winner was unleashed and there was little he could do about it, but his trainer had warned that the race would be needed and that is how it looked. Daring Dream, all the better for his return to action here last month, was kept wide of his rivals in a handy position early and was still bang there a quarter of a mile out, but then had little left. Mountain Cat was making his debut for the yard after winning on Polytrack for William Knight last month. He set a decent early pace, but had run his race when squeezed out over a furlong from home.

Several winners and a few unexposed sorts in a fair three-year-old handicap that should throw up its share of winners. The gallop was sound and this form should prove reliable. TULLIUS, who progressed steadily with every run on Polytrack last autumn, showed himself to be even better on this reappearance and only this second run on turf, despite racing with the choke out early on. He showed a good attitude, shouldn't be going up too much and should continue to give a good account. Charles Camoin, a soft-ground winner over this trip on his final start last year, posted an improved effort on this much quicker ground on this reappearance and handicap debut. He's bred to be even better suited by 1m2f and this lightly raced sort is sure to win another race. Levitate, gelded since his final start, turned in an eye-catching effort when making up a good deal of late ground to fare the best of those that came from behind. He handles soft ground, is well worth a try over a bit further and should be able to win a race from his current mark of 70. Imaginary World has shown improved form in blinkers on her last two starts and looked interesting but, although she travelled strongly, she didn't look to be giving her rider maximum assistance when pressure was applied. She ran creditably in terms of form but will find life tougher from a 5lb higher mark in future. All-weather winner Home Office was well beaten on his reappearance but fared a good deal better under a forceful ride andthis unexposed sort left the impression that he would be at least as effective over 1m2f. Ree's Rascal, showed improved form when bolting up in a 0-70 at Windsor last week but was found out here under a 6lb penalty and he'll have to raise his game to win in the near future from a mark that is set to rise a further 4lb from the weekend. Polytrack winner Aciano never figured on this reappearance and first start since being gelded but he did make up a fair bit of late ground and looks wortha try over 1m2f (dam won over that trip on quick ground).

The field headed over to the stands' side rail in the straight and the judge couldn't split the first two as they crossed the line. A subsequent stewards' inquiry left the placings unaltered. AGIAAL, who is out of 1000 Guineas winner Lahan, didn't look badly rated for his handicap debut and this easier going promised to suit him better than the quick ground he ran on at Goodwood last time. He came with a sustained run down the outside to join Enthusing in front and, while he tended to edge right under pressure, the stewards didn't see enough to hand outright victory to the Elsworth-trained colt. ENTHUSING got a nice tow into the race from his owner's Enlightening before taking over with 2f to run and, although he may have been carried right slightly by Agiaal, he kept responding to pressure and there was nothing in it at the line. Having spent his 2-y-o career running over sprint distances, he has clearly trained on, and now gets the mile, for which he's bred, well. There was a gap back to Cosmic Moon in third, who stuck to the stands' side rail all the way up the straight. She had an excuse on her final start at two and is entitled to come on for this, so there should be better to come. Sergeant Troy promised to Mainly exposed performers in a useful handicap. The gallop was no more than fair and this suited those right up with the pace. BOOM OR BUST, a progressive sort who had conditions to suit, was allowed an easy lead and turned in a career-best effort to defy a 10lb rise in comfortable fashion. He'll be up in the weights again but is a lightly raced sort who will remain of interest after reassessment if it looks as though he'll be allowed the same amount of rope in front. Avon River, back in a handicap after showing a good attitude to win in claiming company with blinkers refitted (none on here) on his previous start, was ideally placed given the way things panned out and ran right up to his best. However he looks flattered to an extent and is likely to remain vulnerable from this mark. The one to take from the race is Marajaa, who travelled noticeably strongly before making up plenty of ground in a race that wasn't run to suit. He has dropped 12lb in the last 12 months and will be one to keep an eye on in similar company when a better overall gallop looks on the cards. Merchant Of Medici, raised 4lb for his latest Polytrack win, wasn't disgraced back on turf in a race where those held up weren't seen to best effect. He has little in hand from this mark but will be suited by a more truly run race. Huzzah hasn't won for some time but, although he's slipped to a potentially decent mark, he spoils his chance here by taking too strong a hold in the first half of the race. A better gallop would suit but he comes with risks attached. Edgewater, 3lb higher than when winning at Sandown last time, had the run of the race but wasn't at his best this time. He'll have to fare better to win a competitive handicap from thismark. The disappointment was the lightly raced Poltergeist, who was soundly beaten after attracting support on this first run for nearly a year and first for new connections. He was beaten too far out to blame the longer trip on this handicap debut and, although eased when clearly held, looks one to tread carefully with in the short term.

Another tactical affair. CHOSEN CHARACTER, who had come from nearly last to run out a clearcut winner at Haydock, was raised 10lb for that. Under a 6lb penalty he took a fierce grip in the early stages. His rider soon realised that the pace was not strong and moved him up up on to the heels of the pacesetter. He took a while to get on top and will have more on his plate in future but is clearly in very good heart. Tasfeya, whose trainer had won four of the last ten renewals, set his own pace. He wound it up going into the final turn but tended to edge right under pressure and was put in his place. Trouble is he might go up in the ratings for this. Cool Macavity, winner of a weak Polytrack maiden at Lingfield in March, on his only previous start, looked to have been given a stiff opening mark. Quite keen, he was last turning in and was going on to some purpose at the finish. This will have taught him plenty. Great Shot, inclined to run with the choke out, is still relatively unexposed. He tended to duck and dive but was keeping on. He does not look entirely straight forward. Dubai Celebration, stepping up in trip, refused to settle early on and never figured. A strongly run 7f might suit him better. Home Office kept tabs on his stablemate but dropped right away in disappointing fashion once in line for home.

A fair handicap but one run at no more than a moderate gallop. DESTINY BLUE who met trouble on his reappearance, had no problems with the drop in trip and turned in his best effort to beat a previous winner and to maintain his unbeaten record at this course. A more truly run race over this trip would have suited and this scopey sort is the type to win again. Jewelled, up 2lb for her previous victory, also would have been suited by a stronger gallop but she probably ran as well as she ever has done against one that isn't fully exposed. Her three wins have been over 1m on firm ground at Bath and she will be of interest in similar company returned to that venue. Rough Rock, a four-time winner over sprint distances at this course, attracted a bit of support and ran creditably returned to this track on this first outing over 1m. While he didn't fail through lack of stamina over this longer trip, he is unlikely to be inconvenienced by the return to 7f. He figures on a reasonable mark. The well-backed Tewin Wood was allowed a fairly easy time of it in front but was, for the second time in succession, below the form shown over this trip in spring. He is fully exposed and may have to drop again in the weights and in grade before regaining the winning thread. Dual course winner Negotiation, who has slipped to a reasonable mark, was the subject of market support but wasn't at his best dropped to this trip. He isn't the most reliable but is probably worth another chance when a better gallop looks likely. Maze hails from a yard that remains among the winners but he again failed to get home over this trip. The return to 7f may be more to his liking but he has little margin for error from his current mark.

An open handicap which was not strong run considering the size of the field. NORMAN ORPEN had run a pleasing race in the Spring Mile on his return to turf but didn't build on that over 1m2f next time. He had been dropped 2lb for this and was ridden much more prominently than usual, taking a narrow lead inside the last and holding off several closers. This was only his fourth run on turf and it's not unreasonable to expect further improvement. First Cat, dropped in at the rear, made up a lotof ground in the final furlong after having to wait for a clear run and would have got up in another stride or two. This one-eyed gelding is consistent but difficult to win with. First Post was a C&D winner last summer and might well have added tothat had he not hung badly to his left in the latter stages, as he was beaten under a length after taking an unconventional route to the line. Viva Vettori finished well and, although he is still without a win in 19 attempts on turf, there's little doubt that he is capable of putting that right one day. Directorship's only win came over C&D and he was runner-up in this last year. He ran respectably but a truer gallop would have benefited him. Fantasy Gladiator had gained all his winsso far on sand but this was a decent effort from the widest draw. The high-drawn Santefisio made late progress from the rear and is well handicapped at present, while Chilli Green made much of the running before fading on this return to turf. The lightly raced Gypsy Carnival could not quicken up inside the last after tracking the leaders and is now set to be eased 2lb. Both Night Lily and Willow Dancer ran a bit better than their finishing positions indicate.

A fair handicap in which the runners were well bunched for much of the way and it paid not to be too far back. The action took place centre to stands´ side. SUNSET KITTY has been in the form of her life since upped to 1m on her last two starts andmade the belated transition to turf a winning one, always well placed and still strong at the finish. The manner in which she took this suggests she´ll improve further, and it might well be that she has even more to give when tried over 1m1f or 1m2f. Dazeen is another at the top of his game and might have made a better fist of things with the winner had he not had to wait briefly for a run, and from possibly further back than ideal too, before staying on well. He´ll face another rise in his mark but that won´t stop him going well in similar grade next time. San Cassiano ran his best race of the year in first-time blinkers. He looked like he´d take all the beating when easing smoothly to the front 2f out but he didn´t do much once there and then spoiled his finishing effort by veering left inside the last. He´s starting to look well treated from a handicapping perspective and it wouldn´t be a surprise to see the headgear left off next time. Euston Square continued his good run of formand will probably find something less competitive next time back in Scotland. Perennial bridesmaid Standpoint was rather surprisingly sent off favourite and again left the impression, after being caught flat footed, that he´s surely now worth atry over further. Aquarian Spirit didn´t run to his recent form after once again having company in front, while Satwa Laird is undoubtedly becoming well handicapped but the manner on which he dropped away after looking sure to finish much closer suggests he´s not one to bank on delivering off his decreasing mark. Sharakti attracted good support but wasn´t able to continue his recent good run, edging left and carrying his head awkwardly as he dropped away quickly. He´s better at 1m2f, but all the same just didn´t look himself.

A really good handicap with enough in-form horses at this level to suggest this is good form for the grade. MAGIC CAT, having his first try at 1m after a good run here over 7f last time, was ridden to perfection to literally get up on the line. Connection felt their horse was always going to get the trip but were just waiting for the right opportunity to arise. The rain that fell and eased the ground was definitely to his advantage. Dolphin Rock goes well here and won the last time Tom Queally took the mount, so the signals were all there. He took time to get going but looked sure to collect before being passed in the final strides. It was a good effort considering he was running off a mark well above his highest-winning one. Venutius was beaten 23l over course on his seasonal return, so this was clearly better. Ideally, he is another that needs to ease in the weights to have an obvious winning chance. Prince Of Dance was still looking for his first success since winning all three races as a 3-y-o, and hadn´t shown a great deal this year. This was better, as he was moving well in the home straight and kept plugging away at the one pace to look a potential winner until fading steadily inside the final furlong. His record suggests that he appreciates some ease in the going. One Scoop Or Two had run consistently this season and posted another sound effort after racing up with the pace. Dazeen, who beat Dolphin Rock in late May, had his chance but dropped out tamely. The jockey reported afterwards that his mount didn´t like the going.

A competitive-looking fillies´ handicap in which they came to the stands´ side in the straight. WATNEYA had won a Redcar maiden on her debut and had put up a fair effort on her return in a classified stakes on Polytrack. Stepping up in trip for this handicap debut, she was well backed and appreciated the ground, taking time to pick up but then staying on strongly. She looks to have more to offer. Barathea Dancer, still a maiden but with several good efforts to her name, didn´t stay in the Lingfield Oaks Trial last time and was better at this shorter trip and in a lower grade. She can be given extra credit as she was keen early, but probably sets the standard. Miss Exhibitionist, whose best effort was over 6f on easy ground, was up intrip for this first handicap on turf and appreciated the rain. She stayed on well from the rear and could pick up a handicap from her current mark given similar going. Sure Route, winner of a Polytrack maiden over 1m before finishing runner-up in a decent fillies´ handicap, had been raised 7lb for that but, after tracking the pace for most of the way, she appeared to not get home on the ground. Spanish Pride, related to middle-distance winners, had built on the promise of her debut to win over 7f on her second start, but she had been absent for almost a year since. Making her handicap debut off 67, she made a brief effort from the rear early in the straight but could not sustain it. Lunar Phase, who finished runner-up to subsequent Oaks third Izzi Top on her reappearance over this trip, was well beaten next time over further. Making her handicap debut off 74, she tracked the pace before fading in the straight and that hard race first time out seems to have set her back. Manaaber beat three subsequent winners when taking her maiden on easy ground last backend, but had been short of room on her handicap debut over 1m on her return. With the ground to suit she was expected to go well, but she panicked in the stalls and that may have affected her, as she was always out the back and never got involved. Her rider reported she cut her head in the stalls and so she can be given one more chance.

An ordinary handicap in which several could be given a chance. VEROON, in good form on the AW when last seen, was clearly fit for this return and, despite all the runners being tired in the drive for the line, it was he who marginally came out on top. Hail Promenader didn't get the best of runs at Beverley last time, but had every chance here and was just denied. Cono Zur returned to form after a couple of below-par efforts. The favourite Majuro never got close enough to challenge, while Cloudy Start remains too high in the weights. The first-time blinkers did little for Signor Verdi, who could only plod on.

Mainly exposed sorts in a fair handicap. The gallop was reasonable and one in which the hold-up horses came to the fore late on. STRIKER TORRES'S grass form has been patchy, but he appreciated the decent gallop over this shorter trip and showed a good turn of foot to notch his first victory on turf. He should be able to win again around this trip when things pan out. Sunrise Safari, tackling his longest trip to date, turned in his best effort of the year in a race that was run to suit. He's capable of picking up a similar race from this mark but he's the type that needs things to drop just right. Powerful Pierre had turned in an improved effort over course and distance on his previous start and fared the best of those that raced close to the decent gallop. He's entered at Musselburgh today, but a 4lb rise means he'll have to improve to win a similar event from the weekend. Catchanova, unpenalised for last week's Polytrack win, is a reliable yardstick who wasn't disgraced back on turf. However he'll be 5lb higher in future handicaps so will have to raise his game to win a competitive handicap in the near future. Elijah Pepper can be rated a bit better than the bare form as he was short of room against the inside rail as the leaders were quickening away. He's largely consistent and should continue to give a good account. Recent C&D winner My Gacho adopted his usual front-running role with the visor refitted, but didn't help his cause by once again failing to settleland was again below his best. Consistency isn't his strongest suit. The disappointment was dual C&D winner Summer Dancer, who had the race run to suit but who failed to pick up back over this more suitable trip. He's been below his best since an encouraging reappearance run.

Subsequent Group 3 winner I'm A Dreamer took this fillies' handicap in 2010 and there were several progressive and unexposed types with prospects of emulating her here. The pace was steady though, the time being nearly two seconds slower than the openingmaiden, and the positions didn't change much throughout. ELMAAM had won her maiden on fast ground but had handled easy ground on her debut. Making her handicap bow, she made the running, but looked beaten when the runner-up went by. However, she rallied in commendable fashion and forced her head in front again on the line. Her attitude should ensure more successes. Bonnie Brae, who has winning form on easy ground, was stepping up in trip. She looked to have done everything right when taking the lead over a furlong out, but her stamina ebbed near the finish and she was collared by the rallying winner. Sunset Kitty tracked the principals from the start but could make no impression in the closing stages. This was only her second try outnurf and first on easy ground, so she can be given another chance back on a sounder surface. Tameen won her maiden on easy ground but was making her first appearance of the season and only stayed on in her own time, having been held up. Countermarch dwelt quite markedly in the stalls, but the steady gallop meant she didn't use up much energy making up the lost ground. She was ridden to challenge, but could never land a blow at the principals. This was a little disappointing as she had handled easy ground on her debut. Merjjanah never got out of the rear division but did not help her chances by being keen early on.

Another decent handicap, with the top-weight rated 85, and it looked open on paper. DARING DREAM, carrying a 6lb penalty for his stylish Ayr victory a week earlier, narrowly not held up in rear until after halfway, but the runner-up would not go down without a fight and was rallying strongly in the dying strides. The handicapper is sure to recall following this victory and life will be tougher from here onin. Reel Buddy Star, winner of this event in 2010 but 5lb higher than when third at Redcar on his last outing, posted a tremendously gutsy display. He disputed the lead from the outset and, even when the winner swept past going easily, he gave his all in an effort to collect this prize again. Hernando Torres, second off this mark at Doncaster three weeks previously, was always in the leading quartet. He was left toiling, though, when the first and second got down to business in the final furlong. Keys Of Cyprus, back down to his most recent winning mark, was held up in touch early on. He got as close as third 2f from home, but could not muster a change of gear at the business end. Jibaal, taking on older horses for the first time, was always in about the same place. On this evidence he needs a little help with his rating. Rasselas, disappointing in four earlier starts this season, could never make a meaningful impact. Held up early, he lacked the pace to mount a challenge. QUOTES: Trainer Jim Goldie: "Ayr last week was the plan, but Daring Dream had to come here because he was so well in himself and a pound or two ahead of the handicapper.

A fair handicap 3-y-o handicap, although WEAPON OF CHOICE was allowed an uncontested lead. A sizeable horse, being allowed to stride on around this galloping course suited him well and he ran on strongly to double his career tally. The cut in the ground also suited as his maiden win was gained on good to soft. The lightly raced My Freedom, up in trip on his first start since last September, couldn't get to the well-ridden winner but kept on nicely enough, suggesting he could progress. Yojimbo, without the visor he had fitted for his last two starts, including his maiden win, hit a flat spot before staying on again. He looks as though he needs headgear to help him concentrate. Nicola's Dream is still a maiden and she can contest lower-grade handicaps off her current sort of mark. Agiaal struggled off a 7lb higher mark than when dead-heating at Haydock last time, and Youhavecontrol ran like a non-stayer.

A competitive 61-80 handicap ran at a strong pace. MOHEEB ended a two-year losing run. All his wins had come on a slower surface, but he had placed form on quick going. He is a reliable performer, and although he will take a rise for this, he can remain competitive, especially around here. Euston Square had been performing respectably in handicaps of late and this was another decent effort. He had his chance entering the final furlong but could not quite match the powerful finish of the winner. Bella Noir, in first-time visor, looked open to a little more improvement and ran a fair race after helping force the pace. She is now racing off a more realistic mark and could add to her tally. Sunnyside Tom has not won a handicap fortwo years but is a force to be reckoned with in claimers and acts well around here. This was another respectable effort but he could only stay on at the same pace after sitting just behind the leaders. Media Stars belied his odds of 33-1 and ran respectably without having the pace to get involved on this step down in trip. Collateral Damage was not disgraced but could not find the gears to mount a challenge. Connections were fearful that the handicapper was catching up with Fazza and unfortunately that may well be the case as he could not get competitive. Tartan Gunna ran far better than his finishing position suggests as he completely blew any chance he had after badly missing the break. QUOTE: PJ McDonald said of Moheebb: I've thought for a while that he was coming back to himself. The strong gallop today was ideal for him. .

Not a strong handicap for the grade with most of the runners having been beaten 9l-plus on their latest start. The pace was steady and the time was almost 4secs slower than standard. MUNSARIM scored by a nose off 2lb lower over 1m2f at Newcastle two runs back and put in a gutsy effort to get back in the groove with something in hand back over 1m. This form does not look very solid, and an up-and-down profile adds some complications to his future prospects, but this relatively lightly rated 4yo hasa good attitude and should be able to strike again. Cono Zur has struggled for consistency this season, but he won twice in the spring and got back near his best with a solid front-running effort off 3lb higher than his last success. NorthernFling looked completely out of form in his last three runs, but this staying-on effort was more like it. Versatile regarding ground, his last success was off 4lb higher and he could prove well treated if this revival gains momentum. Bowmaker lost his way after a second off 3lb higher at Lingfield in May. First-time blinkers and return to 1m helped spark a better effort from this well-handicapped dual AW winner, but it is a worry that he plotted a wayward course and hung both ways in the straight. High Resolution has done all his winning on good or slower ground at Hamilton and couldn't work his way into a threatening position on ground faster than ideal. Hawdyerwheeshst was a market springer but was never really travelling. QUOTES: Winning trainer Keith Dalgleish: "The key to Munsarim is the ground he needs quick ground like this. Even when he won at Newcastle when it was officially good to firm it was a touch on the easy side for him. ".

There was a heavy rain storm ahead of this fillies' handicap. The pace was not strong and they raced in one group towards the centre in the home straight. SUBMISSION, raised 4lb for her narrow Nottingham win, was the subject of a ££60,000 bet at 5-4. Confidently ridden by Kieren Fallon on his only mount of the night, she had to wait for an opening but showed a good turn of foot and was right on top at the finish. There is even better to come. Gracefield, who came unstuck in Listed company over 1m2f after winning on her debut at Nottingham, travelled strongly but was always going to be beaten to the punch by the winner. Mazamorra, dropped 5lb, was the first to strike for home but in the end came up short. This marked a return to her 2yo form. Christmas Light, runner-up over 1m2f at Beverley, was able to race from a 4lb lower mark but the way the race was run was all against her. She is gradually returning to form. Kerrys Requiem, with the cheekpieces retained, is now 5lb below her last winning mark but she too would have appreciated a more strongly run race. Makheelah, making her handicap debut, was not disgraced and has very few miles on the clock. Adaria set just a modest pace. She quickened it up halfway up thehome straight but in the end this thoroughly exposed type was readily swept aside. QUOTES: Kieren Fallon rider of Submission: "She hung briefly when I went to pick her up - maybe she wasn't enjoying the rain - but she got the job done and is going the right way. ".

A decent handicap. Top-weight MASTER MYLO, who reared up in the stalls just before the off, had gone up 5lb for winning at Newmarket last time, but showed himself to be most progressive by taking this in the final stride. He ought not to go up too much and can continue to give a good account. Handicap debutante Ssafa was soon prominent and kept finding for strong pressure, only being denied in the final stride. The bitter twist in the tale for connections was that Darryll Holland put up 1lb overweight, and given the narrow margin of defeat, in theory it cost her the race. It was no surprise to see Compton Blue run better than his odds entitled him to, having dropped to a mark just above his last winning one, and also scored on debut last season. The well-backed Satwa Laird doesn't win very often and he kept on too late for victory. Franco Is My Name ran well considering he's still to win on turf and had never run over a trip this short before. Sergeant Troy doesn't appear to be progressing as much as expected, while the drop in trip proved against On Khee. Lingfield maiden winner Stand To Reason was quickly beaten on this turf debut. Catchanova clearly failed to fire, given he'd been in good form, while Qenaa also failed to give her running, having been weighted to finish on terms with the winner on latest Newmarket form. QUOTES: Graham Mash, travelling head groom to Dean Ivory: "Master Mylo is not straightforward but he's getting the job done. I think Dean has a race in mind at Newmarket in three weeks. ".

Slowly into stride, headway on outside to track leaders over 3f out, weakened over 2f out, soon behind, eased (op 28-1)

A fairly modest apprentice handicap. They probably went a bit too fast early. RONINSKI, disappointing over 1m on his handicap debut, was seen to better effect dropped in this time and, having travelled well, just did enough to get up under a well-judged ride from his young jockey. A horse with some scope, this was only his fifth start and he should have more to offer over 7f/1m. Save The Bees is progressing well and looked all over the winner when going on turning in, but it wasn't to be. He'd gone up 5lb from his previous run and will no doubt receive another small rise, but that shouldn't prevent him winning. Isingy Red, 3lb higher than when winning over C&D latest, had the ground in his favour and just got up for third. FirstClass Favour kept on as well as she could having been headed. Disappointment of the race was Alluring Star, who came into this on a hat-trick. She was beaten too far for the 6lb rise but was an excuse and it's probably safe to assume something wasamiss. Barista reared leaving the stalls was never going to recover. Tedsmore Dame dropped right out having made her move too soon. QUOTES: Kevin Edmunds, representing winning trainer Bryan Smart: "Last time out Roninski didn't stay 1m at Doncaster and 7f is his ideal trip. The worry today was the track and Justin gave him a very cool ride."

A fair handicap run at a good pace. SHAMDARLEY was a winner the last time he contested a Class 4 event (subsequently struggled a bit at Class 2 level) and the drop in grade clearly helped. He ran as though ready for a step up to 1m2f. Izzy The Ozzy, winner of a Ripon maiden by a wide-margin last time, looked set to follow up for much of the closing stages but she was picked off by a rival who had raced further back. She had been off for 48 days and this was only her third start, so there should be better to come. Next Edition has been given a chance by the handicapper and ran okay on this drop in trip. The Mellor Fella didn't run badly, but he's yet to conclusively prove his stamina for further than 7f. Honest Deal was reluctant to go into the stalls and then ran modestly.

A useful handicap in which the two unexposed handicap newcomers filled the first two places. The gallop was just an ordinary one but this race should throw up winners. STAGE ATTRACTION is a progressive sort who travelled strongly and turned in hisbest effort back on a sound surface to justify the market support on this handicap debut. There was plenty to like about the manner of this victory, although he wouldn't reportedly want the ground too quick (had knee surgery at the end of last year), it'll be a surprise if he doesn't add to his tally in the near future. Another to take from the race is Goodwood maiden winner Galiando, who showed improved form, despite his inexperience and despite meeting a bit of trouble in this moderately run race on his handicap debut. He appeals strongly as the sort to improve further over 1m2f and he remains capable of winning a decent handicap granted a stiffer test. Dukes Art, a course-and-distance winner just over a year ago, had run as well as he ever has done at Kempton on his previous start and wasn't far off that level against two more progressive rivals. He won't be inconvenienced by the drop back to 7f on either turf or Polytrack in a race run at a stronger gallop. Ethics Girl, who didn't handle Fibresand when tailed off on her previous start, caught the eye in a muddling event over a wholly inadequate trip on this first turf run since September.

The return to middle distances and beyond will suit much better but she doesn't have muchin hand of her current rating. Moheebb proved well suited by coming off a strong gallop at Carlisle on his previous start but failed to build on that after being ridden much more prominently than is usually the case. It's probably best to put a line through this and he'll be worth another chance away from progressive sorts when a strong pace looks likely. Uncle Fred is a triple winner who ran well over course and distance in spring but his overall form has a patchy look to it and he wasn't at his best, despite dropping in trip. He would have been seen to better effect getting more cover in a more truly run race. QUOTES: winning trainer Andrew Balding: "Stage Attraction is a handy horse who is going the right way and he also handles soft ground so we'll probably put him away for an autumn campaign."

The favourite disappointed and this was just an ordinary handicap, although the pace seemed fair enough, suiting all running styles. DAZEEN didn't help himself with a slow start over 7f last time, but the return to this trip suited and he recordedhis third success of the year, helped by a good ride from Tony Culhane. Not for the first time Paul Midgley's runner got a bit behind and he was being nigged along over half-a-mile out, but he responded well towards the inside rail, his ground-saving trip probably making the difference between victory and defeat. This proves he handles ground on the soft side and he can progress further. First Class Favour was a bit free in front early, but she wasn't overly hassled and kept on well, just being caught by a rival who had raced much further back. All four of her wins have been gained at Catterick between 5f-7f, but these conditions did not pose a problem. Illustrious Prince, trying 1m for the first time, didn't find quite as much as had looked likely after making headway going well early in the straight, but this was still an improvement on his recent efforts. He might do even better back over shorter. Scrapper Smith stood still as the stalls opened and lost a few lengths. He ran as well as could have been expected in the circumstances. Lucky Windmill might have needed this after a two-month break, but the disappointing Georgebernardshaw again let his supporters down. Rustic Deacon was bidding for a five-timer off a 4lb higher mark than last time, but he was in trouble early in the straight and blatantly failed to handle the track once under serious pressure. Stevie Donohoe reported the gelding lost its action. QUOTES: Trainer Paul Midgley: "I was worried about the ground, but Dazeen has overcome it and Tony [Culhane] has given him a brilliant ride. He's always had ability, but he's been slow to mature mentally and it's only now that he's become what he always promised to be." [RW].

This didn't look a bad little 3-y-o handicap for the class and the betting suggested it was a tight affair. There was just a routine pace on, but the first pair quickened well clear from 2f out. ROBEMAKER showed his previous Newmarket flop to be all wrong and deservedly shed his maiden tag at the sixth time of asking. He was well placed as the tempo lifted and kept finding under pressure. He didn't do the runner-up any favours when jinking left once given a smack, but he was holding that rival at the time. Whilst he may not be the most straightforward, he's in good hands and is probably capable of rating a bit higher. Arabian Heights, making his turf debut, has to rate as somewhat unfortunate not to have made a winning start in handicap company. He got hampered at the start and was then held up, which saw him allow the winner first run. Considering that one came across him inside the final furlong and he finished well clear of the rest in second, this was a decent effort and he should be placed to go one better again when faced with more of a test. Top weight Wiqaaya plugged on for a well-beaten third and didn't look that happy on this track or the easy ground. She probably needs some respite from the handicapper, though. Set McFree easily won a weak maiden at Redcar 41 days earlier and was left alone by the handicapper for that. He jinked left coming out of the gates and took time to settle, but it appeared to be the softer surface that found him out when put under pressure. Yahafedh Alaih, back down in trip, got the run of the race in front and proved a sitting duck. Switchback proved disappointing on this handicap debut and, although he may not have acted on the softer ground, he is very much one of his trainer's lesser lights. QUOTES: Jockey William Buick: "Robemaker loved the ground and it was a deserved win as he's a very honest horse. " [DO].

A competitive handicap, run at a sound enough pace and once again it proved an advantage to race prominently. The main action developed down the centre of the home straight. STAND TO REASON ran out a ready winner and made it two wins from four career outings. He was nicely placed though the race and there was plenty to like about his attitude under maximum pressure inside the final furlong. The easier ground was evidently more to his liking on this second turf outing and there ought to be more to come. Epernay, 4lb higher, wasn't done any favours by the winner inside the final furlong, but it would be pushing it to think it cost her the race. This rates a personal-best effort in defeat and proves she has no attitude issues, with it being her second outing in headgear. She too can improve again. Mattoral stayed on stoutly towards the finish and wasn't beaten far. This drop back in trip proved that bit too sharp for him and returning to 1m2f on an easier circuit may well do the trick. Huzzah had his ground and was sent into a clear lead. He didn't go down without a fight and this was more encouraging again, but he has become difficult to win with. Crystal Etoile ran a solid race when third to subsequent Listed winner and Oaks third Izzi Top on her return in April, but went off too hard when unplaced on her next outing the following month. There was every chance this half-sister to the classy Crystal Capella was well treated off 74 on her handicap debut and she attracted support, but was given too much to do. She proved keen early, yet making up ground had been difficult earlier on the card and she would have surely been better off racing nearer the pace as this trip was sharp enough for her on breeding. She will be winning when faced with a stiffer test. QUOTES: Trainer Mikael Magnusson's assistant Paul O'Neill: "We really fancied Stand To Reason at Newbury last time but he missed the break and everything happened too quick for him. It was also the first time he had galloped on grass, which could have been a factor. William said he is still quite green and he thinks we should step him up to a mile and a quarter and keep him on this ground. " [DO].

Rail moved in from 9f to entrance to home straight reducing distances of races of 1m and over by 27yds. A dry night and day. A fair handicap in which the gallop was on the steady side in the first half of the race and, after racing in the centre down the straight, several - including the winner - edged towards the far rail late on. INGLEBY EXCEED, who came into this race in good form, ran right up to her best to notch her second win for this trainer. She was due to go up 2lb even before this win so life will be tougher in future but she should continue to give a good account. Maggie Mey, a stable-companion of the winner, is a reliable sort who had the run of the race and seemed to give it her best shot. She's vulnerable to an improver from this mark but is another that should continue to run well. Buzz Law, from a yard among the winners, appreciated the drop in grade and returned to something like his best. His last two wins have been on firm ground and he'll be worth another chance on quicker ground. Roninski fared better than the bare facts suggest after racing with the choke out on the outside. He'll be suited by a more truly run race returned to 7f and this unexposed sort is the type to win more races. Nicola's Dream left the impression that a stiffer test of stamina would suit but she is still a maiden after 12 starts and, although she will be 11lb lower in future, she doesn't look one to be placing maximum faith in at this stage. Scottish Lake wasn't disgraced on this handicap debut against more experienced rivals. A stronger gallop may have helped and he should improve. Save The Bees, below his recent best, is worth a try over 7f but he really needs to settle better if he is to progress. [RY] QUOTES: David O'Meara, trainer of first and second: "Ingleby Exceed was terribly unlucky at Haydock last week. Everything went wrong - she reared up in the stalls, she was caught wide and she hit the front. Sean gave her a good ride- he is a good lad. Maggie Mey is incredibly tough and she always runs her race. ".

A competitive 3yo handicap, run at a fair pace. Again it proved difficult to make up significant ground from off the pace, but ELECTRA STAR motored home down the outside from 2f out and just got there. She had a similar profile to William Haggas' swinner of this last year Soorah (subsequent Listed winner) and proved solid in the betting back from a month off the track. She settled well under restraint, but found herself with a lot to do when the pace became serious 3f out. She responded strongly for pressure, however, and her rider just got away with it as she poked her head in front near the line. This progressive filly is better than the bare form and can land a hat-trick after a rise. Little Black Book was only just touched off at Newmarket three days earlier and unsurprisingly proved popular. He was never far away and set sail into a clear lead nearing 1f out. His stride shortened near the finish, though, and he was again mugged at the business end. The decision to leave off the cheekpieces may have proved costly as he was in front plenty long enough, but he fully deserves to go one better again and looks worth trying on a sharper circuit. John Biscuit, whose yard won this in 2007 with a similar type, was doing his best work latein the day from off the pace and this puts him firmly back on track. He can build on this. Oetzi was 5lb higher than when off the mark at the seventh attempt on his previous outing and taking on much better horses. He turned in a fair effort without threatening and can find easier pickings at a lower level. Yojimbo ran more encouragingly under a positive ride, while Icebuster was noted staying on too late in the day. He won over 7f last time, but needs more positive handling over this extra furlong. Kieren Fallon reported that Uncle Dermot lost his action. [DO].

Stand's side track used with stalls on Far side except 12f: centre. A one-sided handicap, STEVIE THUNDER, who has been quite lightly raced in recent times, showing he retains all his ability in quickening clear for an easy success. He will get hit hard by the handicapper for winning a fairly uncompetitive race, so his best chance of following up is likely to come if turned out under a penalty before the end of next week. Aciano is still relatively unexposed but hasn't really progressed since his Doncaster win last month, sticking to his task but no match for the easy winner. Impurisuofreedom continues to perform just respectably, but it's worth bearing in mind she didn't reach her peak last year until the autumn so it would be no surprise if there was a bit better to come in the second half of the season. Joe Strummer has now made the frame on all three starts since the visor's gone on but there's no obvious indication he's got anything in hand of his mark. Two Certainties has gained both his wins when fresh and his form has gradually deteriorated since his C&D win last month. Old English is developing a patchy profile and has now run two stinkers since his Beverley second. [AS] QUOTES: Sam Wood (travelling head girl to Ian Williams): "Stevie Thunder has dropped to a good mark and it's nice he's shown tonight what he's capable of. ".

A decent 66-85 handicap and the pace was strong. HOT ROD MAMMA, a winner over 7f at Catterick and 1m2f at Ripon, was out of the handicap and in effect 10lb higher. Dropped in and keen, the winner made up a lot of ground once in line for home. Switched wide over a furlong out, she swept to the front and went right away without her amateur resorting to the whip. It was a very confident and well-judged ride and connections will be keen to turn her out with a penalty. It was a case of credit all round. Moody Tunes, a winner three times here from seven previous visits, put two below-par efforts since joining this yard behind him. He did best of those who raced up with a strong pace. Fujin Dancer, who has struck up a good understanding with this rider both on the Flat and over hurdles, was back over his right trip but is 7lb higher than his Pontefract success. Sunnyside Tom, a winner four times here, won four claimers in 2010. He finds it tough going in handicap company but deserves credit for this. Tartan Gigha, winner of a maiden on his only previous outing here, has plummeted down the weights. He ran better of late under Cathy Gannon but never got competitive. Moheebb, who ended a two-year losing spell when winning here two outings ago from a 7lb lower mark, ran a sour sort of race and was soon detached in last. [WG].

A competitive steady ´ handicap but the earlier rain must have had an effect, as the time was 2. 69 secs slower than the earlier race over the trip, although a victory early pace also contributed. WILLOW DANCER has proved most effective of late when making the running, and the steady gallop allowed him to soon show in front. He had plenty of challengers in the straight but responded gamely to pressure and was holding his rivals in the last half-furlong. He is a useful sort when allowed his own way in front. Sir George, ran his best race since a couple of good efforts in the spring and looked a big threat when coming to challenge, but the winner found more and he could not respond. Elijah Pepper was held up before making good headway early in the straight but could make no further impression in the last furlong. Although he has won here, he seems ideally suited by flatter tracks Motafarred was a well-backed favourite despite running moderately two days before. He was ridden more positively this time but had nothing more to offer in the straight. The Which Doctor, having his first start since May, was held up right at the back and did not get the clearest of runs, otherwise might have been closer. I Confess, with the blinkers back on instead of cheekpieces, raced up with the pace before weakening. He is much more effective on Polytrack, his only turf success coming in Guernsey. [WG].

A fair handicap in which CAMBERLEY TWO defied a double penalty to gain his sixth win on the bounce. This time all the runners came towards the stands´ side, and the winner was closest to the rail. The Roger Charlton-trained gelding was 26lb higherthan when his winning run began, and it is incredible to think before that he was beaten off a mark of just 50. He looked value for a bit more than the margin suggested as he again hit a flat spot and was then a bit unbalanced by his 7lb claimer, but he had the rail to help late on and was always doing just enough. It seems likely he will be forced into higher grade before long but there is a good chance he will continue to progress, especially considering he may well benefit from a step up in trip. It remains to be seen how he will adapt to a different tempo at around 1m2f, but he runs as though he will appreciate more yardage and there is loads of stamina on the dam´s side of his pedigree. Buzz Law ran a solid race behind the rapidly improving winner, reversing recent form with Maggie Mey. The latter was a bit disappointing considering she was able to dominate, but perhaps she went fast enough. Scoglio was returning from a 116-day break over a trip that has looked beyond his optimum, but he offered encouragement. Squires Gate didn´t improve for the step up in trip. [RW] QUOTES: Alan Knight, travelling head lad with Camberley Two: "He was probably in front too long, but he´s won cosy enough despite the margin and is still improving. I think the boss wants to give him a rest, so he´ll probably do that. ".

Slowly into stride, held up, headway under pressure over 2f out, weakened over 1f out

A shock result to this fillies´ handicap, although one doubts whether PINCH OF POSH would have gone off such a big price had she not run so poorly last time (finished distressed) and instead come here on the back of her Warwick maiden win. The step up to 1m was the concern as there is plenty of speed in her pedigree, but she got the trip well, albeit in a race not run at a hectic early pace. While she won only narrowly, she was always holding the runner-up and there´s a suspicion that she took this with a bit in hand, so she might be up to defying a higher mark. Hurricane Lady, another 2lb higher, continues in fine form and posted another good effort in defeat. She goes on a variety of surfaces and should continue to be in the mix. Bella Noir disputed the lead with Amoya and was sent on heading to 2f out. In hindsight perhaps she was asked to go for home plenty soon enough, and in the circumstances she did well to hang on for third. She´s one to be interested in if she looks, like getting an uncontested lead. Vita LiKa shaped with plenty of promise on her belated reappearance. She´s entitled to come on a good deal for the run and looks to be on a workable mark. Bakoura was keeping on at the finish, but perhaps she needs quicker ground to be seen at her absolute best, while Loving Thought has yet to convince that she stays 1m. Complexion had gone up 11lb for winning by 5l at Yarmouth and that looked justified in the light of the runner-up´s success at Sandowntwo starts later, but she was one of the first under pressure here, got a little squeezed up next to the rail and found little. She has been very inconsistent in her career to date and isn´t one for maximum faith. [SE] QUOTES: Olly Cole, son of Paul Cole, trainer of Pinch Of Posh: "She´s always been a genuine type and we might take her to Deauville. ".

Judging by the early positions of those who fought out the finish, it seems the leaders went too fast. This was a fair handicap. TERDAAD, absent since winning a 7f Polytrack maiden in first-time cheekpieces last October, justified good support to follow up under these different conditions on his belated return. He was ridden with extreme patience, but came through in good time and, having briefly looked vulnerable to Electra Star´s late bid, it turned out he was always doing enough. It seems he´s an idle type, but a rise in the weights may well underestimate his true ability. Electra Star, bidding for a hat-trick off 6lb higher than when successful at Sandown last time, looked a big threat after being forced through a gap under Fallon, but she edged left and was always being held by the idling winner. Icebuster couldn´t reverse recent placings with Electra Star, but it was notable that he galloped out strongly after the line. Uppercut´s performance wants upgrading. Admittedly racing off the pace proved advantageous, but he cannot have been helped by being squeezed for room for several seconds at around halfway, becoming unbalanced and dropping to last. He did well to then briefly look a threat before his exertions told. Discovery Bay paid for chasing the strong pace. Richard Hughes, rider of Apache Glory, reported the filly hung left handed. The vet reported that during routine testing he found Silver Bullet was lame behind. [RW] QUOTES: Jockey Frankie Dettori: "Terdaad was in front plenty long enough but he kept going; the cheekpieces did the job again. ".

Not many progressive sorts but still a useful handicap. The gallop was a reasonable one but those attempting to come from off the pace weren't seen to best advantage. TAKE IT TO THE MAX, returning after a short break, tended to go with the choke out but confirmed he's a fairly treated sort for his current yard with a gutsy success. He shouldn't be going up too much for this, is worth another try over a bit further and appeals as the sort to win more races. Romantic Wish, the only filly inthe race, isn't fully exposed but ran as well as she ever has done back up in trip from this 5lb higher mark. She's a useful sort and, although she didn't fail through lack of stamina, she should be able to win again returned to 7f, especially when a good gallop looks on the cards. Santeftisio hasn't won for nearly two years but he's slipped in the weights and ran as well as he has done all year after racing freely for much of the way. He'll be a further 2lb lower in future handicaps and he's capable of picking up a race back over 7f on turf or on Polytrack. Galatian, who reportedly lost a shoe when disappointing at Chepstow on his previous start, returned to form back on a sound surface. He has won three of his last eight starts but has little margin for error from his current rating. First Cat, who got warm before the start, fared better than the bare result suggests after being set plenty to do and after being forced wide on the first bend. He's essentially a consistent sort buta losing run that goes back nearly two years will prevent him from being one to go in head-down for next time. It is probably best to overlook the below-par performance of Moynahan, who lost all chance when faltering badly on the first bend but his overall profile (only one win since landing his maiden nearly four years ago) suggests he remains one to tread carefully with, especially at single-figure odds. [RY] QUOTES: Jockey Lee Topliss: "Take It To The Max has done it well in the end. I probably got to the front too soon, but once I was there I didn't want to disappoint him so I let him go on and he held them off for me. ".

A fair handicap but not many became involved. NORDIC SKY was the least experienced member of the field, successful in a Pontefract maiden on the second of his two starts, but he defied top weight with a nice performance. Always up with the pace, the winner had to work for his victory but looks a willing individual with a good attitude, and he should enjoy further success. Mutajare, another always towards the fore, showed something of a return to form following three lacklustre runs since his second at Doncaster in May. Imaginary World came from off the pace when switched right and was closing at the line. She is admirably consistent and was racing from a career-high mark. Change The Subject, off the track since late May, ran adecent race on this handicap bow in first-time blinkers. He stayed on near the far rail and will be happy going back up in trip. My Son Max had promised to benefit from this longer trip and he stayed on quite well in the latter stages. He has now been beaten four times from this mark. Roy The Boy ran creditably on this handicap debut but lacked a change of pace, while Aciano was not discredited on this quick return to action. Little Black Book arrived on the back of a series of good runs but was up 3lb here and never really posed a threat. [RL] QUOTES: William Haggas, trainer of Nordic Sky: "He won like that at Pontefract last time and we will keep him at a mile for now. ".

The majority of these raced stands' side, while only five runners stayed far side, but there wasn't a great deal in it at the line. Clearly this is muddling form. FIRST POST defied a mark 8lb higher than when winning this race last year. This was a career-best performance. Top Diktat, off the mark over 1m1f on soft ground last time, got going too late after being under pressure a fair way out and found this an insufficient test. He's a half-brother to a stronger stayer and will be worth another try over further. Spa's Dancer was 6lb higher than when winning over C&D last time when he was the only runner to race stands' side. This time he had company and he seemed to go for home plenty soon enough. Spectait needed reminders soon after the start but eventually got going and fared best of those on the far side. A 20-1 shot, his proximity suggests it wasn't a disadvantage to stay far side. Hacienda couldn't take care of his group and remains winless since June 2010, but in fairness this ground might have been too soft. Dysios looked to travel strongly but his rider took a while to switch him stands' side, which can't have helped, and he found little. Michael Attwater, trainer of L'Hirondelle, reported the gelding finished lame. [RW] QUOTES: Derek Haydn Jones, trainer of First Post: "I thought he would win last time at Haydock. He was absolutely cantering a furlong and a half out but he never picked up. Dane O'Neill reckoned it was because the ground was holding but they had that much rain here yesterday that it's not holding and they're getting through it. He is a lovely horse in the making. He won't get in the Cambridgeshire but I've put him in it just in case. ".

There was a torrential downpour before this race and the going was changed to good to soft after it. They took no prisoners in this fair handicap, with a trio soon scampering clear and very few ever got into it. POLISH WORLD came into this 3-5 over C&D and had the plum draw for a front-runner, just as when winning here last month. Given another brilliantly executed ride by Micky Fenton, he was soon taking them along at a strong pace with only two of his rivals going with him. Despite looking vulnerable 2f out, he pulled out a bit more and established enough of an advantage to just about last home and enhance his already impressive course record. Mr Rainbow raced in midfield and looked to be hanging when first asked to get closer 2f out, but he kept staying on and was clawing back the winner's advantage at the line. He is now back down to his last winning mark. Oratory, without a win since his second start at two and disappointing in three previous runs for his current yard, performed much better here and did well to finish where he did after missing the break. Amethyst Dawn, disappointing since winning off 2lb higher at Thirk in June, paid late on for trying to go with the winner from the start. Diman Waters is normally seen over sprint trips and didn't help his chances of seeing this out in the conditions by taking a keen hold early. Elijah Pepper, who never got into it, has now been beaten in his last 17 tries on turf and is still a stone higher than for his last win on the surface. Hacienda never landed a blow and, though the ground may have gone against him, he has now been beaten in his last 18 starts in handicaps. [DB] QUOTES: Trainer Paul Midgley: "PolishWorld needs to go off fast like that. He surprised me a bit, though, as I thought he was high enough in the weights. ".

An ordinary handicap in which PAT'S LEGACY took advantage of being allowed an uncontested lead, setting a steady pace that resulted in a time much slower than the earlier 2yo maiden. He was runner-up to Uncle Fred at Windsor two starts ago, but was awinner at the same venue last time and defied his penalty in straightforward fashion. Uppercut, better than he showed when hampered at Salisbury last time, did well to get so close to the winner considering that one had the run of the race. Jewelled has yet to win off a mark this high, while Uncle Fred, up 3lb for his recent Windsor success, did not have the race run to suit. Compton Blue, 1lb higher than when winning this last year, was denied a clear run in the straight but found nothing when in the open. [RW] QUOTES: James Rogers, rider of Pat's Legacy: "I was gifted an easy lead. I filled him up round the bend and he travelled well but was still able to quicken. It turned into a bit of a sprint but he's game and he battled. ".

The final of this mile series and a competitive affair. There was a sound pace on and it was a creditable winning time for the class. FOCAIL EILE stormed clear half a furlong out to land his first race on turf since 2009. He had the blinkers left off this time after a poor effort on his previous outing 43 days earlier, and did show something of an awkward head carriage at the furlong marker, but that clearly helped his cause. The little bit of cut underfoot was just right for him and he should still look feasibly treated after a likely rise. Imperator Augustus was up 8lb for beating a subsequent dual winner at Carlisle when last seen 63 days earlier. He turned in a very brave effort over the front considering he was hassled for that position and this 3yo remains open to further progression. The hat-trick seeking Swiftly Done was 9lb higher and, showing an awkward head carriage, took an age to pick up under pressure. He stayed on with purpose, though, and may not be weighted out of winning again just yet. Solar Spirit had the plum draw but was given a lot to do from out the back. He stayed on well on the inside from two furlongs out and returned to something like his best form. Music Festival ran his race but failed to reverse his last-time-out Ayr form with Swiftly Done despite being 9lb better off. He looks in the handicapper's grip. Fibs And Flannel's losing run continues, while I'm Super Too was beaten way before his 8lb higher mark kicked into play. He looked to pay for taking off wide of runners going into the home turn. [DO].

A competitive handicap, or at least it was on paper, DANESIDE, despite racing from 3lb wrong, assuming control from 2f out and never looking in any danger. He’s been running consistently well all season and this win suggests he’s still on the up, although he can expect to see himself race off considerably higher in future. The in-form Focail Eile, penalised for last week’s Musselburgh victory, drifted over to the far rail, which was by no means an advantage looking at earlier results, andhis performance can probably be upgraded. He’s also in at Chester today. Salient is slipping back to a fair mark and managed to hold on for a place. Peponi, returning from 405 days off and still a maiden, made a most encouraging return, never looking stronger than at the line, and it’s hoped he progresses the right way. Muqtarrib proved one-paced under pressure on this return to 1m. Eastern Breeze, easy winner of a Windsor maiden, disappointed on this handicap debut, with lastweek’s Kempton winner Emerald Wilderness another to underperform, taking a keen hold and never getting into it. Plenty of these looked easy to oppose, so this is probably only modest form, especially as the fancied horses disappointed. STARWATCH, whose rider dropped his whip inside the final 2f, got back in the winner’s enclosure again after filling third place on his previous outing at Windsor. This was his fifth win since late July, where he won off an official mark of 58. Tilsworth Glenboy had done the majority of his recent racing on Polytrack, but had shown he could handle easy ground in the past. Held up early, he came round all the runners to post a solid effort. Mahadee, with cheekpieces back on, had shown only one bit of promise since joining these connections, so this was more like it, although his profile clearly shows he may not run the same way next time. Satwa Laird had gone a long time without a win, and didn’t look to have too many excuses here after having a perfect position throughout. Paramour, dropped 1lb after one fair effort in a handicap, was down 2f in distance and set off to make all. He got across to the stands’ rail quite easily but couldn’t last under top weight. Sweet Child O’ Mine, 4lb higher after winning at Redcar last time, was really interesting on her form with ease in the ground, but got locked away in behind horses when the field got over to the stands’ rail and couldn’t make an impression thereafter. [DT] QUOTES: John Bridger, trainer of Starwatch: I thought the ground was too sticky and that the handicapper had him now, but he wants to win - that’s the difference. .

A competitive fillies’ handicap run at a decent gallop. The first two came from well off the pace. DIVERTING was up another whopping 11lb in her bid for a hat-trick, but a filly in top form is always a dangerous opponent. Held up near the back of the field, she had to be switched wide to make her effort over 2f from home, but she quickened up in decent style and won this with some authority. Another rise in the handicap awaits, but in her current mood anything is possible. Golden Tempest, tried in a hood, was given a very similar ride to the winner, being held up in last place early. She wasn’t travelling that well turning for home, but made up a lot of ground when switched to the wide outside and ran on to the line. Her best previous form had been on Polytrack, but on this showing there is no reason why she can’t win on turf. Metropolitan Miss had been regressive since making a winning debut on the Kempton Polytrack in April, but this was much better and she may have been unlucky not to finish even closer. Ridden nearer to the pace than the front pair, she met trouble in running over 2f from home but stayed on strongly when in the clear and this was a step back in the right direction. Jiwen, bidding for a hat-trick off a 6lbhigher mark, was always close to the pace and had every chance when leading over 2f out, but was then done for foot and probably needs a return to further. Doricemay, disappointing in three handicaps since winning her maiden at Goodwood in May, ran better this time and is dropping to a more feasible mark. Bakoura, closely matched with Moone’s My Name on Leicester July running, was another held up in the early stages, but didn’t find her stride until it was too late. Tanaami was put straight into a handicap having won her only previous start, but although she didn’t have a lot of room to play with in the home straight, she didn’t appear to be travelling that well either. The rider of Golden Tempest reported that the filly hung right. [DB] QUOTES: Trainer William Jarvis: "Diverting is quite a progressive filly and she’s very resilient and very game. ".

A competitive handicap run at a strong pace thanks to the freely sweating Cono Zur tearing off in front, but he had run himself into the ground before the furlong pole. IMAGINARY WORLD had made the frame 14 times in 18 starts since her sole success last October, so this success was hardly out of turn. Ridden with plenty of confidence having been dropped right out early, she somehow managed to steer a passage through on the inside rounding the home bend and fully utilised the gap between the two leaders to force her head in front almost on the line. Solar Spirit, off the same mark as for his last handicap success, was never far away and, following a protracted battle, managed to nose ahead of Standpoint in the closing stages. However, nosooner had he done so than the winner mugged them both. He is only 3-43 and needs things to drop just right. Standpoint travelled powerfully behind the leaders on this drop back in trip until hitting the front over a furlong out, but he was collared well inside the last furlong. He usually run his race, but is only 1-30. Robert The Painter, trying this trip for the first time, was forced to make his effort from off the pace very wide off the final bend, but he kept on well and appeared to stay. Jonny Lesters Hair is a confirmed front-runner, so performed most creditably considering he wasn't able to lead here and he didn't have much room to play with on the home bend. He has won off a 2lb higher mark, so is well-enough handicapped when things go more his way. Sir George lost his chance at the start at Redcar last time, following a decent effort over this C&D, and was another to run into trouble on the home turn when trying to get closer. Shadowtime, a stable-companion of the runner-up, met all sorts of trouble on the home turn but for which he would have finished closer, though his five career successes have all come at Beverley. [DB] QUOTES: Alan McCabe, trainer of Imaginary World: "I'm glad she's got her head in front, that's her second win and she'll go to the fillies and mares sale in December. ".
