Not many of these were in form, either this season or last, and the first three finishers hadn’t won a race between them, despite having a few chances. SILENT OASIS wasn’t disgraced on her return to action recently and gained a first success aftercoming from well off the gallop. Considering it has taken her quite a while to get off the mark, one couldn’t easily predict a follow up unless she really has turned the corner. Formulation, who ran poorly on his final start of 2010, kept on for pressure and gave another indication that he can win a race at some stage. However, he wasn’t the most consistent last year and one would like to see him build on this performance next time. Gordy Bee, without eyeshields this time, had his own way out in front but didn’t look happy when his jockey placed him under strong pressure, even before he was headed, and he carried his head high. Tanforan ran on in the final stages but never threatened to take a hand in the finish. Sennockian Storm was made to look woefully one paced late on after racing prominently, while Postman, raised 4lb for winning over 1m on Fibresand last time, had his chance but couldn’t go on under pressure. Beetuna pulled much too hard early to have anything left late on. The jockey reported afterwards that his mount lost its action.

Another race with many non-runners. A field of unexposed horses in handicap company. BUZZ LAW didn’t settle on the outside of runners, but he quickened well down the home straight. Although edging left under pressure inside the final furlong, he knuckled down well to fend off the second. He was a worthy winner and his experience gained from last season proved decisive. He’s still a big baby and has more to learn, but if he can relax better he’ll be up to winning more races. Pivot Bridge, unexposed and well bred (half-brother to 1000 Guineas heroine Speciosa), improved for this step up in trip, only going down to a more experienced rival. He’ll be difficult to beat at this distance in a modest handicap and is capable of running off higher handicap marks in the future, especially with some cut in the ground (by Pivotal). Sir Randolf showed his first piece of worthwhile form since January, holding every chance 2f out, but he was outstayed by more promising types. A step up in trip couldsuit better. Hawk Moth comes out of the race with credit. He pulled far too hard coming round the home bend but was in with a winning chance when threatening to lead 1f out. He’s been gelded, which could explain this good run, but he needs to learn to relax during his races, and if he does he'd be interesting off this mark in the coming weeks. Aloneinthestreet proved disappointing. He led but weakened dramatically in the straight as if something may have been amiss.

Half the field lost their chance on the final part of the bend heading back in the direction of the straight, around 4f out. They all seemed to negotiate the sharpest point of the turn okay, but the trouble started when early leader No Larking veered badly left just before the field straightened up. He ended up on the opposite side of the track (Dane O'Neill did well to prevent his mount from crashing through the rails) and took Royal Opera with him. Independently, Silverware, who had been chasing the pace, did likewise, carrying Green Pearl and Sergeant Troy across the track. Perhaps Richard Hannon's runner was copying the actions of the leader, but there was a small group of people on the infield at exactly the point where thetrouble occurred and it seems probable that the two runners responsible for the carnage were shying away having been spooked. So, this was effectively a five-runner race and SOWETO STAR was the chief beneficiary. He responded gamely to pressure and proved suited by the step up in trip, having been one-paced when fancied over 6f here two weeks earlier. My Vindication had been off for 143 days and was passed over by Richard Hughes, so he can be expected to come on for this. There was a gapback to Romantic Wish, who was making her turf debut, while Al Andalyya should come on for this first start in 297 days. The Holyman had been off since winning a 7f Polytrack maiden on his debut last October and was comfortably held.

A fair handicap that was run at a sound gallop, with the time more than 3secs faster than the preceding maiden. BAQAAT, who handles fast ground, had looked in need of this longer trip when runner-up on her seasonal reappearance over 7f at Lingfield. Never far away, she got past the long-time leader over a furlong out and had to keep battling to hold off the late challengers. Her attitude should enable her to win more races. BaratheaNancer had run well here last season but on much softer ground. She stayed on steadily in the straight and looks to have races in her given an easier surface. Diplomasi, who improved once switched to handicaps on the AW in the winter, stayed on well in the closing stages having looked held. Greenflash, making her handicap and turf debut, set the pace and kicked coming down the hill. However, she was caught over a furlong out and had no more to offer. High On The Hog, the subject of market support with the stable's earlier runners having performed so well, was another to make steady progress in the straight, almost alongside the third, but could not quite reach those in the frame. Uncle Dermot was doing his best work in the closing stages on this return to turf.

Just a run-of-the-mill handicap, with the top weight rated 70, but it looked very competitive. EUSTON SQUARE, who had not beaten a single rival on his two previous starts this term, stepped up markedly on those efforts to register his first win since 2009. Fifth in the early stages, he had closed into third by 3f out and, despite hanging slightly left when first put under pressure, quickened nicely. He faces a handicap rise after this and it remains to be seen how he will handle it. Spavento, a maiden racing from 11b out of the handicap, was nibbled at beforehand at each-way odds. She justified that support, too, making progress from midfield in the home straight and battling on well close home. Law To Himself, 11b higher than when third over 1m4f last time out, was last early on. He was still well back turning for home, but kept on in the closing stages, as might be expected from one with his previous record over longer trips. Key Breeze, a course-and-distance winner in August 2010, looked set for a first-three placing 2f out, despite losing some ground at the start and racing keenly early on. He could not quicken in the closing stages, though, and may just have needed this seasonal reappearance. Botham, successful three times here previously, never held a better position than at the finish. He was having his first run for 183 days and will probably be sharper for the outing. Bajian Flash, beaten just a short head in a Redcar maiden six days previously, wasa little disappointing. Solid in the market beforehand, he raced in second until after 3f from home, but then faded rather tamely.

A small field and it is hard to believe this will prove strong 3yo handicap form, although GOOD BOY JACKSON did at least show a good attitude to gain a first career success, finding more when it briefly looked like the runner-up would swallow him up. It may be no coincidence that this improved showing coincided with the first time he has tackled going firmer than good. Chosen Character, tried in a visor, has now made the frame on all his starts but there is no obvious indication he is getting much better and he found the winner pulling out a bit more inside the last. Certral, claimed from George Baker after Windsor, is starting out in handicaps off a modest mark and is the type her new trainer will get a win or two out of at some stage. She shaped here as though a return to 1m2f may suit ideally, being one-paced after briefly tight for room against the rail. Number Theory had gone close on his handicap debut under similar conditions last month so might have been expected to do better. Classic Voice had run two solid races for his new yard previously, but he weakened out of this pretty tamely.

The rain had set in quite heavily by the time of this low-grade 3-y-o handicap, and the visibility wasn’t the best. Paul Hanagan was once again seen to excellent effect aboard OLLON, who despite not looking the most determined and idling having edged on, had his mind made up for him. He had done enough at two to suggest he could pick up a small race such as this, but it remains to be seen whether he can progress. The front-running Rapturous Applause left her reappearance run well behind, really digging in when challenged, but the 1m1f may have just stretched her. Ad Vitam ran better than he had done at Yarmouth on his most recent start, keeping on well close home, ahead of Pintrada, who was a positive in the market but seemed to find this trip on the short side. He remains capable of better.

A tight handicap run at only a fair pace. They finished in a heap TAKE IT TO THE MAX had finished third in the Glasgow Stakes here when he was rated 97 last May, but he lost his way and the handicapper has dropped him 25lb since then. Well backed on his debut for his new yard, he had the run of the race and looked set to win by a wide margin when he hit the front, but he idled markedly and his rider had to keep him up to his work. He didn't win by much, so the handicapper won't take too dim a view. The feeling is there is more to come and he is worth following. Dabbers Ridge ran in a seller last time on his second run back from a winter break but with the rust knocked off him, he ran his usual race, getting outpaced early and coming home with a wet sail. He is a useful sort in this grade and remains on a winning mark. Casino Knight is a game type and despite hitting his usual flat spot, stayed on well and lost no caste in defeat. She needs slower ground to show her best. Shabak Hom probably needs a bit further than this on this evidence. He stuck to the task willingly and should be up to taking a race of this nature in the not-too-distant future. Euston Square, who will carry 11b less than this in future, would be better suited with a faster surface. He was handicapped to the hilt last season but has been given a chance now and can win in his turn. Bold Marc was a bit disappointing given that he had won here last week and a 6lb penalty is not really an acceptableexcuse for a weak effort.

No more than a fair fillies' handicap but a rough race run at a muddling gallop. The market leader was badly hampered and consequently the race took less winning than seemed likely. MISS CHICANE, loaded with a stalls blanket, appreciated the return to turf and turned in her best effort after being switched to get a run to get off the mark at the fifth attempt. She should be able to step up further on this. French winner Inef had the run of the race and turned in her best effort for current connections. She's vulnerable to an improver from her current mark but her stable should be able to pick up an ordinary event at some point. Golden Waters was soundly beaten when last seen in July but, although faring much better on this reappearance run, didn't impress with the way she flashed her tail under pressure. She may be flattered given the way things panned out and she wouldn't be one to go in head down for next time. Regal Kiss shaped as though retaining all her ability on this reappearance and, while she may not have too much in hand of her current mark at this stage, she left the impression that a stiffer test of stamina would have suited. Foxley's debut win has taken a couple of knocks but she wasn't disgraced against more experienced rivals after being well placed throughout on this handicap debut. She may do better. The unlucky one was the well-backed market leader Dragonera, who was poised to challenge and was just being asked for an effort when badly hampered as the leaders were quickening. She will be 11b higher in future but will be worth another chance in similar company.

A fair handicap for 3-y-os. It was run at a decent pace and they finished quite strung out. Storm Runner ducked under the stalls and was withdrawn. ROYAL REVERIE had shown mixed form in five previous starts but he battled bravely and saw the trip out well to get of the mark on this second try in a handicap for a yard in red hot form. An ability to stay this far will open up more avenues and this relatively unexposed Royal Applause gelding has the scope for further improvement. Puttingonthesty shaped quite well when fifth on return/handicap debut over 1m2f here. His pedigree leans more towards this sort of trip and he raised his game with a valiant effort under a prominent ride. His mark will go up after this but he is a half-brother to fairly useful multiple 6f-7f winner Morse and should be able to gain compensation for this near-miss. Woop Woop got back somewhere near her Polytrack best on the switch back to 1m, but she is 0-9 and looks harshly treated off 8lb higher than her second on nursery debut at Lingfield in December. Swaninstockwell showed some promise from out of the weights on return from 192 days off. He is fairly exposed but the positive is that his half-brother Legal Legacy was a much improved triple handicap winner as a 3-y-o. Promenadia is well-bred and looked a possible improver on handicap debut, but she cut out quite quickly in a race where the other prominent runner went close. Obsession had run respectably, staying-on late in two previous handicap starts, but he was very laboured here and needs to find a better mid-race rhythm.

This was run at what looked a good gallop, but the first four remained in their positions almost throughout and it was in fact a well-judged front-running ride from Silvestre de Sousa. VETVEY, put up 6lb for making every yard at Redcar last time, was drawn worst of all but still had little trouble in crossing over and taking up the running on the rail. He soon had them well strung out in behind, but his rider kept enough in reserve and he held on at the finish by a diminishing margin. He beat a couple of in-form rivals here and looks quietly progressive. Dr Red Eye, 6lb well-in at the weights, was in second place more or less throughout and had his chance inside the last as the leader began to tire, but the line came a touch too soon for him. Things will be tougher off his new mark but he’s going the right way. Lady Gar Gar, a winner here last month, had cheekpieces on for the first time and ran a sound race off a 4lb higher mark. The longer trip was not a problem for her. AdVitam is a pretty consistent animal and is a good guide to the level of the form. Alensgrove promised to be suited by this longer trip but, in a race dominated from the front, she struggled to land a blow from off the pace. Wild Hysteria,racing from 2lb out of the handicap, was ridden to get the longer trip. He struggled to get into the race from well off the pace, but lack of stamina didn’t seem to be an issue.

An ordinary handicap, but they went a rapid pace thanks to the third horse and that set it up for the winner. VIOLENT VELOCITY had yet to win beyond 7f, but he had been placed numerous times over this trip and the key to him is being able to come late off a strong pace. Fortunately for him, the pace set by Gordy Bee played right into his hands and, having picked off all his rivals over a furlong from home, eventually ran out an easy winner. Carlitos Spirit had been quiet in his previous fewstarts, but had dropped to a mark just 11lb higher than when winning over C&D last July and this was much better, even though he was slammed by the winner from over a furlong out. Gordy Bee has been mixing racing on the level with hurdling recentlyand he set a furious pace having attracted market support, but although he couldn’t see it through his stamina enabled him to hang on for a remote third. However, he is yet to win a race of any sort and is now 0-17 on the Flat. Rowan Lodge travelled well enough, but didn’t find a lot off the bridle. He gained his only handicap success as a juvenile and his last nine wins have come in selling and claiming company. Tilsworth Glenboy, returning to turf off a 6lb higher mark than on sand, was weak in the market, missed the break and then saw plenty of daylight on the wide outside. His best form has come on much softer ground than this. Sennockian Storm has proved disappointing since going handicapping, despite a slipping mark, and this was another tame effort.

A low-grade handicap that was won with a bit in hand by PETSAS PLEASURE, who had returned with an improved effort off 4lb lower at Yarmouth. Clearly progressive, he stayed on strongly to win his first race since 2009 and looks the sort with more to offer at the right level. Desert Hunter returned to something like his best on this third start of the season. He was briefly short of room, but it didn't affect his finishing position. Bajan Pride was soon prominent and had every chance, finishing just ahead of Eastern Gift, who kept on well despite having been a bit short of room. Lady Excel kept on to register her best effort since arriving from Ireland. She's slipping down the weights and may soon be able to take advantage. Mr Emirati picked up strongly once switched, catching the eye rather and making him of some interest for the future. Song Of Parkes pulled his chance away in the early stages and was readily swept aside. Madame Excelerate ran well below par and the way she dropped out suggests something may have been amiss.

A number of runners had something to prove in this handicap. The pace was decent and there was a runaway winner. PRINCE OF SORRENTO was not far off his best when fifth behind a subsequent winner in a Polytrac handicap on his return last month. Hewas interesting off a 9lb lower back on turf and powered clear from just off the pace for a third win on his 12th start. The form is a bit suspect and he will face a big rise in the handicap, but the style of victory was impressive on his first try on slow ground and he is still not fully exposed. One Hit Wonder showed his first sign of form this season. He ended last term with a win off a 3lb lower at Brighton and could continue to work his way back. Indian Valley never looked like justifying support but shaped with some promise on her first run back since joining a current yard for 20,000gens last October. Still relatively lightly raced, she won a couple of 1m soft-ground claimers in good style for Rae Guest last autumn and could build on this next time. Things had fallen apart for If I Were A Boy since a demolition job when allowed an easy lead in a 1m2f good-ground Episcopa handicap last July, but reapplied cheekpieces helped inspire a better effort from a filly who has dropped back down to her last winning mark. Royal Etiquette ran respectably on his seasonal reappearance but he is a 15-race maiden with a generally regressive profile. Mingun Bell ran creditably in two previous starts this year, but he was very disappointing, particularly as he has form on soft ground.

Some well-handicapped types and/or progressive runners dominated, and this looked a good race for the grade. They raced stands' side. Perhaps helped a little by the fourth's unlucky trip, the lightly raced RUSTIC DEACON extended his winning sequence to three. After two victories over 1m2f on Polytrac, he had plenty to prove, not least his effectiveness for these vastly different conditions and his readiness after 160-day break. He also had a 10lb higher rating to contend with, but he travelled like a horse still ahead of his mark, only coming off the bridle inside the final 2f. It's true to say he didn't find as much as had looked likely, but he did enough and it will be a bit of a surprise if there isn't better to come. Marjury Daw returned to form under a strong ride and is well handicapped on her best efforts. Miss Bootylishes was 3lb below her last winning mark and offered encouragement. Prince Of Sorrento is a big horse who ideally needs a bit of room to make his move, so he was helped by the field racing far side when a wide-margin winner over C&D the previous week, but that wasn't the case this time and he was poorly placed. He was keen early, so Ted Durcan sensibly got some cover, but the colt was still tucked away towards the inside rail by the time he reached the straight, and he lost his position when having to wait for a run before trying to force his way through. Considering he finished on the heels of the winner he was arguably unlucky not to defy his penalty, and although facing a likely significant rise in the weights, he's one to keep on side when there is give in the ground. Rosedale did well to finish so close, challenging widest after compromising her chance with a slow start. She's another who can do better.

A competitive finale, in which the winner was given a superb ride. HURRICANE LADY, 4lb higher than when successful over this trip four days earlier, led from the start and toughed it out when challenged in the closing stages. Her rider had the rest stacked up behind turning into the home straight and gradually increased the pace thereafter. His mount responded for pressure in great style and, despite the second and third closing hard late on, she was always just doing enough to collect. Ferruccio, 2lb higher than when beaten a neck at Nottingham in May, made a brave attempt to shrug off that rise. Always in the leading trio, he battled gamely in the final furlong, but simply could not wear down the winner. Kalendar Girl, making her handicap debut after three maiden-race starts, showed in no uncertain terms that she has been given a rating from which she can be competitive. She may go up a little for this, but ought to win at some stage. Mr Perceptive, disappointing in two previous handicap runs this term, fared a great deal better here. Second for much of the race, he faded out of contention for a first-three slot only very late on. Midnight Trader, a fast-finishing fourth over 7f last time out, never threatened the principals over this trip. Fifth was the best position he ever held. Kingarrick, back up in trip after a sound fourth over 7f at Newbury last time, chased the pace in the early stages. He was found wanting for toe, however, when the winner engaged a higher gear early in the home straight. QUOTES: Owner Stuart Moir: Ideally, she wants more cut, but she was very gutsy.

Just a run-of-the-mill fillies´ handicap but won in good style by an improving type. EPERNAY, fitted with a first-time visor after her odds-on defeat over a longer trip at Carlisle a month earlier, ran out a gutsy winner. Held up in touch in the early stages, the Tiger Hill filly made progress before 2f out and mounted her challenge out towards the centre of the track. Responding well for pressure, she was going away at the finish and is probably still progressing. She will, however, face a rating rise after this. Miss Bootylishes, up 3lb since her narrow C&D defeat of 12 days earlier, looks a feasible yardstick from which to rate the winner´s performance. She was always in the leading trio and battled on well inside the final furlong. Very Well Red, 4lb better off with Shamardal Phantom for length-and-three-quarter defeat at Bath two starts back, turned the form around with ease. In the lead shortly after the start, she set the pace in the middle phase of the race before tiring slightly in the closing stages. Arctic Maiden, well beaten on her two previous tries in handicaps, ran markedly better here. Towards the rear early on, she had worked her way into fourth approaching the final furlong and plugged on thereafter. Duquesa, a half-length runner-up at Chester the previous evening, posted another solid show. In the first five from the start, she lacked the pace to get any closer in the closing stages. Madonna Dell´orto, making her seasonal bow and handicap debut after four runs in maidens, was never closer than at the finish. She does not look especially well treated on this evidence, but is entitled to come on for this first start in 309 days. QUOTES: Trainer Ian Williams: Epernay isn´t the easiest of fillies and Ryan [Clark] gave her a great ride. She was quite straightforward here. .

Rails on inner line and distances as advertised. The ground was described as good, with a GoingStick reading of 8. 2. A low-grade handicap. UNCLE DERMOT appeared not to last home over 1m2f last time, but he was committed for home inside the final 2f and saw it out well. Winning for the first time at the 14th attempt, he can continue to give a good account at this modest level. Blue Maisey, down 3lb, ran with more encouragement and can pick up something similar. Whodathought bounced back from a poor run at Newbury, drawing on from Countess Ellen, who didn´t get home in the first-time cheekpieces. Night Witch, who has had more in front than behind of late, caught the eye in taking fifth late on, suggesting she may soonbe able to capitalise on what looks a decent mark on old form. Arctic Mirage appeared to find the step up to 1m beyond him, being eased off late on. Thank You Joy was given plenty to do, predictably finishing well once it was over, with similar comments applying to Beach Babe, who went wide. Zaheeb was unable to confirm the promise of his 28-1 Yarmouth second, being beaten too far for the 6lb rise to be blamed. My Ruby never looked happy and was clearly below expectations. QUOTES: Winning trainer Brendan Powell: "I´ve tried Uncle Dermot at various trips and he´s finished second four times. I told Kieren [Fallon] to go for home some way out as he keeps galloping. He´s a sweet horse. ".

An ordinary handicap. The pace was fairly steady and the performance of the winner can be marked up because she came from some way back to catch the long-time leader. HIP HIP HOORAY is more potent on Polytrack and can often start slowly, but she has won on turf and was a clear second to 100-1 winner in a 7f Yarmouth handicap last time. The return to 1m helped counteract a 4lb rise and she finished well outside to overhaul the pacesetter and record a sixth career win. Catchanova improved his record to 2-20 when winning a 0-70 over 1m at Kempton two runs back. It was disappointing he didn't get closer than fourth when unpenalised at Beverley but the return to forcing tactics nearly worked off 2lb higher here. Ilie Nastase has registered both his British wins in Polytrack claimers and his last turf success was in France three years ago, but he was a market springer and gave it a decent try off a career-low mark. Starwatch had a generally regressive profile this year, but he has dropped to 7lb lower than on his second of two 6f Epsom wins last summer and ran an encouraging race stepped up to 1m. Regal Rave has done some late work on his last two starts but he can often look short of tactical speed and his only win in 17 starts was off 3lb lower. Foxley faded under a prominent ride. She has been vulnerable in three runs since a successful debut in a six-runner maiden at Warwick. Prince Of Sorrento was short of room when a close fourth under penalty here last time, but he was an uneasy favourite and spoiled his chance by pulling hard off the steady pace this time. QUOTES: Trainer Luke Dace: "Hip Hip Hooray is genuine and always gives her best - if she doesn't make the frame there's usually something wrong. She loves racing and is in at Leicester on Saturday, but I'll have to see how she takes this because she doesn't owe anybody anything and may have had a hard enough race. ".

Despite the small field, the pace seemed solid enough and this was a race of changing fortunes. PETOMIC ideally needs a strong pace to run at and the key to this success was that he was held up in a detached last, whilst his rivals all had a turn at grabbing the lead before he was asked for maximum effort. With his opponents all nicely softened up, he produced a telling turn of foot to lead close to the line. Just Five is yet to win over this far, but he was produced to win his race over a furlong from home and could hardly have gone much closer to scoring. He has become well handicapped and deserves a change of luck. Pandoro de Lago ran terribly off this mark on her handicap debut at Haydock last month, but although this performance under a positive ride was better, she was still comfortably picked up from over a furlong out. Casino Night, a five-time course winner carrying a 6lb penalty for her C&D success five days earlier, became outpaced when still in with a chance over 2f from home and although she tried to rally when switched out wide, there was no way back. She has never won off a mark this high. Circle Of Angels, making her handicap debut after easily winning a weak C&D maiden 13 days earlier, was produced with dangerous-looking effort on the outside 2f from home, but her effort soon flattened out and she didn't look at all happy thereafter. QUOTES: Robert L. Butler, rider of Petomic: "He's a nice horse, tough, and he did it well. ".

A modest finale, with the top-weight rated 69, but run at fierce pace. YOU'VE BEEN MOWED, 11lb lower than when third at Chepstow 12 days earlier, led from the start and was never challenged. She had established a decent lead by the turn for home and, after quickening again once they straightened up, never seemed likely to be caught. See The Storm, third off this mark at Redcar two starts back, disputed second from the outset. He could not get to grips with the winner, though, and got as close as he did only because she was eased in the dying strides. Joe Strummer, tried in a first-time visor after a disappointing handicap debut 19 days previously, responded positively to the headgear. Always in the leading trio, he plugged on gamely in the closing stages. Mr Chocolate Drop, runner-up over C&D from a 3lb lower mark in May, was one of the few to make late progress from the rear. It was nothing like enough, however, and he never seriously threatened. Bentley, re-fitted with cheekpieces after finishing second from 4lb lower last time out, raced in fourth until 3f out before fading late on. Ajdaad, with cheekpieces back on after a defeat in better grade a week earlier, was another to lose ground in the closing stages. He raced in fifth until after halfway but could not better that position.

The first race of the evening on the round course, but like on the sprint track, speed was holding up well, indeed BLUE MAISEY became the fourth straight winner on the card to make just about all. She was off the same mark as when runner-up over C&D eight days earlier and showed a good attitude to go on place better, her first success after eight attempts. More will probably needed if she's to defy a rise, but that's possible. Empress Charlotte had shaped as though in need of 1m when runner-up over 7f on Polytrack last time, finishing in front of Blue Maisey on that occasion, and though she couldn't confirm form, she got this trip well, finishing clear of the others. She's now 0-10, but should win a race. Marie Rose, dropped in trip and tried in cheekpieces, offered a bit more encouragement, but she's yet to fulfil the promise of her debut effort. She's well bred, so a win is important to her value as a broodmare. Not for the first time Elvira Delight was found wanting for end-race speed. George Baker reported the filly suffered interference in running. Conjuror's Bluff was being pushed along from an early stage, but he ran on surprisingly well. This was a lot better than his recent efforts and he can certainly win if applying himself better from the beginning. Kieren Fallon, the rider of Elegant Muse, reported the filly had no more to give.

Another race on the card which looks to represent solid form for the level with some in-form horses fighting out the finish. HITS ONLY JUDE is enjoying a good year. He'd been second over 1m2f at Warwick last time but this trip is arguably his optimum and he clung on to land his third win at around 1m this season. He'll continue to give a good account. Thinking lost absolutely nothing in defeat in the face of a 5lb rise for Musselburgh, making the winner pull out all the stops. In common with quite a few from his yard, he's thriving at present and it'll be a surprise if he's done his winning for the campaign yet. Royal Straight has the odd quirk, but he's well handicapped and his last two efforts have both suggested he might be up to taking advantage before long, particularly as there's a chance this first run in two months might put an edge on him. A 10lb rise was enough to bring Botham's winning run to an end, but this represents another sound effort and the fact he's being ridden closer to the pace these days means he doesn't need things to go quite so much his way as often used to be the case. Northern Flyer has edged down to a good mark and his last two efforts both give hope that he might be getting back towards his best form. He's one to bear in mind in the coming weeks. Jaldarshaan has yet to find her best form since joining Alan Swinbank, but it's probably only a matter of time, particularly once the stable is back firing on all cylinders. She's quite a keen-going sort and a drop back to 7f wouldn't inconvenience her.

This was a moderate 3yo handicap and it was a race in which it proved hard to make up ground from off the pace. CROSS CULTURE dropped right out on his seasonal return 15 days earlier and things didn't look great as he tanked his way into a clear lead here. He was gifted an easy time up front, however, and kept finding once the sprint for home developed. This was his first success at the fifth attempt and he is entitled to come on again somewhat for the run, but he has to rate as flattered. High On A Hog emerges as the one to take from the race. He quickened when asked to close, but the winner had gone beyond recall. He's on a good mark and an opening looks to be nearing. Orthodox Lad went without blinkers up in trip and was well backed. He had every chance, but considering this was hardly a test over the distance he still has to prove he truly stays this far. Empress Charlotte, who got warm, was never going to be able to seriously challenge due to the way the race was run and didn't get too hard a time when her chance became apparent. She is now due a 4lb rise. Uncle Dermot, 4lb higher, was another not seen to best effect being held up off the stop-start pace. Buckland was equipped with first-time cheekpieces and attracted support down in class. He too was never going to play a serious part being held up off the muddling pace and is better than this.

An unsatisfactory race from a form perspective as ABDICATE was allowed to dictate a very steady pace and that ultimately proved the key as she had all of her rivals at it over two furlongs out. To her credit the winner saw it out really well, running out a very authoritative winner, but it’s probably unwise to get carried away with the bare form. Despite being lightly-raced, she probably needs to improve to defy a rise in the weights. Petomic emerged from the pack having hung to his right when first coming under pressure. He enjoyed a decent gallop to run at when scoring here last time but didn’t do so here so hasn’t fared badly in the circumstances. Botham was always going to struggle to get involved given the ways things panned out but he stayed on well into third. Hidden Glory is another who fared well in the circumstances because he ideally needs a strong pace to chase and he shaped last time like his turn was near. So Bazaar was too keen early and dropped away. Greg Fairley reported Edas hung right throughout. [GB] QUOTES: Jockey Paul Hanagan: "I had to turn to plan B - I wanted to take a lead but there was no pace on. It was a good race she ran in at Newbury last time and she didn’t run too badly that day. ".

What had looked an open handicap was won quite impressively by REGAL SALUTE, making her debut in the sphere off a very workable mark of 71. The way in which she picked up to go clear was taking and, although this was perhaps not the greatest of contests, she should prove capable of mixing it in a higher grade. Pegasus Again, rated 7lb lower on turf compared to the AW, kept on all too late to challenge the winner. The in-form Miss Bootylishes, up 3lb for winning at Chepstow, probably ranto something like her best, with the unexposed 3yo winner just proving in a different league. Alshazah was readily swept aside on this handicap debut, finishing just ahead of Only You Maggie, who kept on last past tiring rivals in a first-timevisor. [MB].

Bottom bend moved out 6m adding 18m to distances on Round course. Following this race Lee Newman said: "It's nice ground, maybe just on the slow side. " A weak handicap run at an ordinary pace. MANGHAM hadn’t been in much form lately, but he had checkpieces on for the first time and took advantage of a career-low rating, ending a losing run dating back to October 2008. This wasn’t much of race and higher mark will make things tougher. Marvo ran okay under top weight, but was no match at all for the winner. Petomic had better recent form than most of these (ahead of Marvo last time), but this speed-favouring track did not suit his hold-up style. Ra Junior was allowed an easy lead, but he’s not easy to win with (now 2-30) and proved disappointing. Law To Himself had conditions to suit but offered little. Paul Hanagan reported Gumnd was never travelling. QUOTES: Trainer George Foster: "Mangham has had his problems - he’s bled in the past - and he nowlives out the whole time and it seems to suit him. This was a long way below the best of his form, but the ground and the application of checkpieces seemed to help him. " [RW].

An ordinary handicap, but the pace was solid and the winner looks progressive. MARINERS LODGE was making his debut for the yard after becoming disappointing for Godolphin and the change of scenery seems to have worked the oracle. Content to get a lead from the favourite, he was back in front over 2f from home and soon scampered clear. He still has scope and holds several entries in the coming days, so would be hard to beat under a penalty. High Resolution, something of a Hamilton specialist, was given plenty to do from last place, but he finished strongly down the wide outside over the last couple of furlongs, if never a threat to the winner. This was still a good effort as he probably needs easier ground than this. His stable-companion Royal Straight was another to stay on over the last 2f and although now 0-18 since joining his current yard, deserves credit as he may need further than this these days. Petsas Pleasure has been running much better this season and this was another creditable performance, but he remains 8lb above his last winning mark. Music Festival had his ground, but finished a well-beaten third of five in his only previous try beyond 7f and he could never land a blow here. William Haigh was hard to evaluate having narrowly won a Fibresand maiden in his only previous start back in May, but the way he was backed off the boards suggested that the short absence and these very different conditions were not enough to he issues. However, after having made much of the running, he capitulated very tamely after being headed by the winner over 2f from home and has plenty of questions to answer now. DB.

A good fillies' handicap for the class, run at a solid pace. Ex-Australian 5f maiden winner HUNTER FORWARD registered a winning British debut and did the job in decent fashion, landing a gamble in the process. She is an imposing daughter of Galileo and connections clearly believed she was starting off from a lenient mark. She took time to settle in a share of the lead, which makes her success more imperious, and there was a lot to like about the way she saw it out. No doubt there are more races tobe won with her and her trainer believes she will get further once settling down. Heatherbird again proved too free for her own good under restraint. That didn't stop her form producing a strong late run on the outside from 2f out, however, and she finished a clear second-best. This well-regarded filly looked to need all of this longer trip and should improve a deal as she matures. Indian Valley did her best to close from off the pace and she helps to set the level as the handicapper just looks to have her measure. The penalised Bella Noir wasn't helped by being taken on by the winner up front. She looked in trouble when that rival kicked on, but rallied inside the final furlong and wasn't disgraced under her massive weight. History Repeating proved reluctant to load up on this belated 3yo debut, but ran a fair race and ought to come on plenty. The disappointment was the well-backed Lady Gabrielle, who was bidding to make it 3-4 for current connections. She paid for racing too close to the pace here, but has a touch to prove now. QUOTES: Trainer Luca Cumani: "Hunter Forward is a fizzy filly who came to me from Australia and she'd been running over five furlongs. That wasn't her trip. I think we'll go for something similar for her. She's by Galileo so she'd probably prefer a little cut in the ground. Maybe we'll go a mile and a quarter next time. "[DO].

Yet another winner who made every yard. LABORE, back on his last winning mark and with blinkers on for the first time, got his own way in front and, on a day when the pace was holding up, he held off his pursuers to win more comfortably than the margin suggests. A rise in the weights will make things tougher again. Gallant Eagle, another who has slid in the weights, was never too far off the pace and kept on well enough, although he was flattered to finish as close as he did. Satwa Dream, who also raced close to the leader for much of the race, ran alright dropped back to 1m, but She Ain't A Saint struggled to make up ground from behind, as many had done at this meeting. The first-time visitor had no beneficial effect on Sergeant Troy, who failed to pick up from midfield in the straight. [SE].

Three last-time-out winners made for an interesting finale. It was run at a reasonable pace and there weren't any hard-luck stories. I'M SUPER TOO had run well on unfavourable terms in a claimer last time and, back in a handicap, provided his stable with a double with a solid effort, staying on strongly over a trip as sharp as he would want. He's won both his races here, and a small rise in the weights is unlikely to prevent him running well again next time. Retreat Content quickly got backto form with the headgear dispensed with and probably deserves his effort marking up a little seeing as this trip is on the short side. Hill Tribe is better on all weather than turf but there was little wrong with this effort considering the pace he took the field along at. He'd be of interest if tried in a 0-60 next time. Seldom was ridden with perhaps a bit too much patience and stayed on well without threatening to get involved, while Royal Straight was another delivered from a similar position as the fourth but couldn't finish his race off with anything like the same zest. On The Cusp travelled strongly for a long way but found very little off the bridle. [GN] QUOTES: Winning jockey PJ McDonald: "I'm Super Too did it well and is in good form. He ran above himself at Carlisle and I was always very, very confident if he ran to that form. Hopefully the handicapper will give him a chance now, we can get him out again and he can do the same again. ".

A weak, uncompetitive handicap, run at a moderate pace. The outsider of the field, WEST END LAD was soon in front and he ran on well for pressure in the straight. He had dropped to a handy mark and was 3lb lower than when winning at Nottingham a year ago. Solar Spirit came here on the back of a Carlisle claiming win. Slowly away and held up, he picked up ground in the straight but had to switch to the rail for a clear run. Although he was closing on the winner, he never looked like getting to him. Bold Cross had his chance but the lack of a true gallop was against him. He can add to his tally when things drop for him. Without the cheekpieces, Ajdaad was never a factor but ran on past three flagging rivals in the final furlong. The only 3yo in the line-up, Barista raced more prominently than is often the case in his first-time visor and was on the retreat before the final furlong. [RL].

Hampered 7f out, raced wide, always behind (op 12-1)

A modest apprentice handicap run at a good clip. The solid gallop suited GALLEG0, who was last turning in but came with a sustained run once switched to the outside. He has run well here several times in the past and hinted at a return to form at Salisbury on his latest start. He could return to that track next week. Only You Maggie, who was obliged to race a little wide, got to the front in the straight but could not hold off the winner. This was another solid effort under a penalty and, while she may not be wholly straightforward, she is capable of winning again, probably over a bit further. Raghdiaan had limited experience on turf, had not run since March and was racing from 12lb wrong. He plugged on for pressure and remains unexposed on this surface, but the fact he finished third does hold down the form. Diddums, whose stable won this a year ago, was staying on in fourth and has been declared to run at Lingfield on Saturday evening. Sasheen only faded in the final furlong after making the running, while Ede's Dot Com had his chance and put a poor showing at Epsom behind him. Leitzu improved on the inside in the straight before the effort flattened out. She's due to be dropped 2lb now. [RL] QUOTES: Richard Price, trainer: "The handicapper has been harsh on Gallego over the past two seasons. Racheal (Kneller) gave him a great ride. He'll run at Salisbury on Friday in the amateur race. ".

The going was changed to soft all round ahead of this low-grade handicap. Again the pace increased once in line for home. CARRAGOLD, penalised 6lb for his game Beverley success, made it three wins from his last four starts. Though he can handle quick ground he is at his best in the mud. Creeping through on the inner, in the end he proved much too strong for the runner-up. His rating will increase to the mid 60s after this, but we almost certainly have not seen the best of this late developer yet. His yard has enjoyed a fine run over the last four or so weeks with Robert Winston aboard all their winners. Jupiter Fidius, without a win for a year, had finished third in selling company at Thirsk on his previous start. He made his effort wide ofthe far side rail, but after showing ahead was very much second best at the line. Nicola's Dream, a longstanding maiden, had run well when fifth in a higher grade at York. She went in pursuit of the first two, but was never going to land a tellingblow. Law To Himself, another down in grade, was no match for an easy winner at Redcar on his previous start and a first handicap success is proving very elusive. On The Cusp, who needs to lead, came into this on the back of a poor effort from a similar career-high mark. He stepped up the pace straightening up, but he came off the fence leaving the door open for the winner. Mangham, who has been known to break blood vessels, was another who turned in a tame effort and he may benefit from a short break. [WG].

Not many got into this, as ADORABLE CHOICE, without a tongue-tie this time, got away quickly and made every yard of the running under a well-judged Hayley Turner ride. The horse hasn't looked the most reliable in the past, so whether she'll repeat this next time is anyone's guess. The Buska, making his handicap debut, showed a good deal of promise considering he didn't always have the clearest of passages when needed. He ought to win races. Kalendar Girl, down in distance, stayed on towards the outside of her rivals but never looked like winning, especially as she hung. Blue Maisey, raised 5lb for her Windsor success, is a nice-looking type but failed to get home after chasing the leader early. Silver Alliance and Ninfed didn't make much impression after being held up. [DT]

A competitive handicap. The runners were tightly bunched off a steady pace in the early stages and they raced centre to near side in the straight. STARWATCH had been in unstopable form in the last four weeks. He had a penalty to defy for his latest Windsor success but made a decisive move early in the straight and stayed on gamely to complete a four-timer and improve his strike-rate to 3-4 at this track. The handicapper will be closing in after another rise for this victory, but this revitalised performer should give it a good shot in his attempt to make it five in a row next time. Veiled Applause showed an upturn in form when runner-up to a well-handicapped rival on Saturday. He had a drop in trip and switch to a sharp track to deal with and the steady pace was against him, but he kept battling after finding some trouble and deserves credit for a clear second to a rival who is on a roll. Very well treated on his Doncaster third off 12lb higher in the multiple, he could be ready to end a ten-month losing run. Aspectus showed some fighting spirit to keep rallying under a positive ride. A multiple 1m-1m3f Group winner in Germany in his youth, he is on a very tempting mark but has not scored for over two years and his good days are not easy to predict. Dear Maurice added another fair effort to a consistent profile, but his last Flat win was over three years ago. Compton Blue is just 1lb higher than his two wins in 2010 and was a market springer here, but he was a bit keen and couldn't make an impact. Super Duplex, a course winner who is versatile regarding trip, was well backed, but he got warm beforehand and was fighting a losing battle some way out. [DM]

A modest handicap in which I'm SUPER TOO improved his record at the track to 4-5, defying a penalty for his most recent success four days earlier. Having travelled as well as anything, his rider looked reluctant to get to the front too soon and the winner idled when clear late on. He can be considered value for extra. Master Of Dance took an age to pick up, and although eventually running on quite well, he looks a bit flattered to finish so close to the idling winner. Botham, a regular winner here, travelled well for a long way and this was better than of late. The winner's stablemate Law To Himself was a major eye-catcher. Admittedly he doesn't look easy to win with (now 1-16), but P J McDonald did not impress at all. Following aslow start he was well out of the back for much of the way and his rider took an age to get serious, the gelding still hopelessly placed over 2f out. Judging by the way in which he finished once finally asked, it's fair to say he would surely have made the first three under a more pro-active ride. Fibs And Flannel seemed to travel okay to a point, but there was one paced when in the clear and perhaps just needed this first run after 49 days off. [RW] QUOTES: Alan Swinbank, trainer of I'm Super Two: "He's in good form, but he's getting near to a mark where he's going to find it difficult. He's in at Newmarket on Saturday, and we'll have a look at the race to see how it looks. ".

A trappy-looking handicap featuring a clutch of lightly raced runners, but turned into a procession by the bottom-weight. DIVERTING was 7lb higher than when winning over C&D 19 days earlier, but that rise was not nearly enough to prevent the follow-up. Fourth in the early stages, she had moved into third by the start of the home straight and shot to the front on the far rail 2f out. From that point on, it was all plain sailing and connections' main concern will now be the official handicapper's reaction. Collica's Lad, making a quick reappearance after disappointing at Windsor the previous evening, ran a great deal better here. Second in the very early stages, he soon took up the running and was four lengths clear with half a mile left. He could not respond when the winner swept past, but still had enough in the tank to hold off the remainder. Cane Cat, winner of four of her last eight starts, never seemed likely to improve that record. She made some late progress after racing in fifth or sixth for much of the journey, but could not get to the pace-setting runner-up in the final furlong. Encore Un Fois, switched to a handicap after three outings in maidens, was never in meaningful contention. On this evidence, he does not appear especially well handicapped. Fajjir, making her handicap debut after three runs in maidens, was in front early on. She was soon overtaken by the eventual second, though, and failed to mount a serious challenge thereafter. Smirfy’s Silver, second to Diverting last time and 3lb better off, comprehensively failed to take advantage of the weight turnaround. He raced in second until well into the home straight, but was left behind when the winner upped the tempo. [DL] QUOTES: Malcolm Winter, travelling head groom to William Jarvis: “Lee [Newman] rode Diverting last time and said she’s come on a lot since then. We may run her again quite quickly, but she’s not the sort who’d want to carry a big weight.”.

MISS BOOTYLISHES has been wonderfully consistent this year and gained a well-deserved second success of the campaign in gritty style. She had never won off this high a mark but it was only 3lb above that of her success at Chepstow in July and she acts very well with cut in the ground. She saw this out well having travelled well just off the pace and is a credit to her connections. Mrs Dee Bee was in front a long way out and rallied again once headed in the final furlong, so she is clearly very game. This was only her fourth start, so she has more scope for improvement than the winner and she'll not be long in adding to that Nottingham maiden success. Trend Line was always front rank and kept on well in the closing stages, suggesting she might prefer going back up in trip. She is yet to taste success but looks more than capable at this sort of level. First-time blinkers helped Indian Valley to run better than at Chepstow last time, although she was also helped by the fact thatshe was back on her favoured ground. Both her wins have come in claimers and she probably needs a little more help from the assessor if she's to get her head in front in handicap company. Oh So Saucy won off this mark last year and she's been running well enough in defeat of late. She doesn't normally race from the front so this was a change in tactics but she proved vulnerable in the final quarter mile. QUOTES: Trainer Paul Burgoyne: "Miss Bootylishes loves cut in the ground and this was a drop in class from a 0-85 last time. Her form has really been franked as Poyle Judy, who beat her last time, went and won next time and Pat's Legacy, who beat her before that, won the previous race."

They went a crawl in the early stages of this amateur riders' event and then sprinted up the straight. In the circumstances LOYALISTE did well to come from last to first, and perhaps he has more speed than connections have realised, as he's mostly been campaigned over further than this in the past yet his best RPR was recorded on his only start over 1m. Byrd In Hand, who was effectively back down to his last winning mark when taking into account that he was 1lb out of the handicap, had everything go his way as he was able to dictate at a dawdle. While strongly challenged by Choral Festival inside the final 2f, it was always likely that he would have something left in the tank and he eventually saw that rival off, but was run down close home bythe strong-finishing winner. It was a solid effort, but he had the run of the race. The last thing Shabak Hom wanted was for them to go a crawl as he's a keen sort, so the way this race was run didn't suit him at all. Both Potentiale, who won this race two years ago, and Gallego are come-from-behind horses who like a decent pace to run off, and they didn't get that here. Choral Festival had her chance going to the final furlong but she didn't see out her race and is likely to remain vulnerable off her new mark. [SE] QUOTES: Richard Hannon, trainer of Loyaliste: "We gave a lot of money for him but things haven't gone right and he has had some hiccups."

(Class 5) (3yo) (1m4y) 1m Good To Firm 1/5 0 73/37/62

Just a middling 3yo handicap, with the top weight rated 75, but it looked competitive on paper. YOJIMBO has been dropping down the ratings lately and took advantage of that fact with a game success. Always in the first two, he led 2f out and stayed on well. This was only his second victory - his first since being gelded - and it remains to be seen if one with his previously inconsistent profile can repeat the form on a regular basis. Climaxfortackle was 3lb higher than when winning at Wolverhampton 15 days earlier and, given that rise, posted a creditable effort. No closer than mid-division 4f out, she stayed on gamely and passed a clutch of rivals relatively late on. Full Bloom, refitted with cheekpieces after a couple of blinkered efforts, seemed to respond favourably to the change of headgear. She was in the leading quartet from the outset and plugged on gamely towards the finish. Poyle Judy, up 6lb since scoring at Chepstow 15 days previously, found her ratings rise too much to cope with. She was never far off the pace, but could not quicken at the business end. She was disqualified from fourth after an objection from the clerk of the scales. Her rider Stevie Donohoe failed to weigh in and as a result picked up a ten-day ban. Whitby Jet, narrowly beaten off this mark over C&D ten days earlier, lost ground with a sluggish start. He was never really in meaningful contention after that, but kept plugging away in the closing stages. Swift Blade, dropped in trip after a series of runs over 1m2f plus, appeared not to have the pace to make a major impact. If he is to persist at this distance, he will probably need a stiffer track. Cairncross, making her handicap debut after three solid runs in maidens, set out to make all. She was overhauled by the 2f pole and tired in the closing stages, but seems to have been given a reasonable mark. [DL] QUOTES: Jockey Matthew Davies, who rode out his claim with this victory, said of Yojimbo: "He's a lazy horse and gelding has been the making of him. Mr [Mick] Channon told me to be positive on him and it's worked out well."

The second leg of this handicap was run 0.42secs slower than the first, so the early pace was steady and again the winner made all. WEST END LAD, who won over C&D in August off 3lb lower, got an uncontested lead here and, clear over 2f from home, never looked like being reeled in. He is a durable performer who wins his share every season and, although he is eight now, did not have his first race until the summer of his 4yo season, so could go on for a few years yet. Compton Blue, who has slipped down to 2lb below his last winning mark, was held up out the back but got a clear run down the outside as some of his rivals got in each other's way, and stayed on well without ever looking like troubling the winner. Ferruccio raced in a good position tracking the leaders and appeared to be going like the winner 3f out. However, he could not produce any extra once pressure was applied. He might be worth another try over 1m2f. Hits Only Jude, 3lb out of the handicap, tracked the leader throughout but could not produce a change of gear, although he kept plugging away. Oetzi was probably the unlucky horse of the race as he was tucked in early and got no daylight in the straight, passing the post just behind the placed horses with his rider sitting still as he had nowhere to go. He can be rated better than the bare form. Miss Chicane seems to have been suited by the application of a hood the last twice, but was a little keen here and was run out of the placings in the halfurlong. Cootehill Lass and Greek Islands were both out the back throughout and could make no progress from that position in the straight. [AR].

The second division of the extended 1m handicap and another open heat. There was a solid pace on and a very tight three-way finish. L'ASTRE DE CHOISIR gamely opened his account at the sixth attempt. Confidently ridden, he made his move entering the home straight and dug really deep when pressed either side by the placed horses inside the final furlong. He was always doing enough and had clearly come on a deal for his belated return on Polytrack nine days earlier. It was just his second outing on turf and there should be some more to come despite a likely rise. Tap Dance Way bounced back to her best and was only just held. She fared best of those racing prominently and deserves to find an opening after this. Young Dottie, returning from a 49-day break, made a bold bid down the centre of the track from 2f out and wasn't beaten at all far. This takes her turf record to 0-17, but she'll still look well treated after a rise compared to her AW mark and there's surely a race for her. Theprincipals came clear of Eastern Gift, who had his chance back on turf and helps to set the level. He's done plenty this term, though, and his losing run goes on. Aviso, stepped up a furlong, was aggressively ridden by Fallon and paid the price from 2f out. [DO] QUOTES: Jockey Jim Crowley: "Mr Swinburn thought that L'Astre De Choisir would nearly win. They came at him and he battled pretty well. ".

A good gallop helped the hold-up horses but it still went to one who raced handily. DONCOSAQUE, five times a winner on Polytrack, and in claiming company last time out, scored for the first time on turf. On a much lower mark than previous seasons,he was still good enough to take advantage. Push Me found the solid gallop helping her and put in a good effort despite being 8lb higher than last time. Her form is usually on softish going, but there was enough juice in the ground to bring out the best in her. Rock Anthem has been running reasonably well without being placed, and this suggests he is coming back to his best. He looks interesting off his current mark. Billion Dollar Kid threatened to do well at this trip earlier in his career, but he is more of a 7f horse these days despite making a recent debut over hurdles. Encore Un Fois, still winless after seven races, should find the right opportunity but he has been on a stiff mark in his last two races. Larkrise Star has been in good form but this was a tougher race than last time, and she is now higher in the weights. Frozen Over proved he stays 1m and is worth keeping tabs on, because he looks set to win when everything falls into place. Rosedale looks to be on a winning mark at present and, though not at her best here, should not be dismissed yet. [LMcK] QUOTES: PJ O'Gorman, winning trainer: "Doncosaque’s form on grass didn’t look that good, but I think he had a pelvic injury when he was last running on it. ".

A modest handicap run at a reasonable gallop but one that took less winning than seemed likely with the market leader disappointing. The field came down the centre and, as in previous races on this card, attempting to come from behind proved difficult. WATTS UP SON had been well beaten on his two previous runs at 1m and hadn't been at his best last time but he posted a career-best effort, despite racing keenly and edging off a true line late on. He should be able to add to his tally. Uncle Dermot ran creditably in terms of form - despite hanging - after coming from just off the pace to post his best effort since summer. However, he’s not a regular winner and his record suggests he wouldn’t be certain to reproduce this next time. FrozenOver wasn’t totally disgraced on this first run in soft ground. He left the impression that a truer gallop back on a sounder surface would have suited better and he’s lightly raced enough to be open to a bit of improvement. Soft-ground winner Barista is another that would have been better suited by a stronger gallop but he was far from disgraced and should continue to give a good account in this type of event. First Class Favour wasn’t totally disgraced after attempting to come from off the pace but, while she’s been disappointing this year, she’s slipped a fair way in the weights and may be one to keep an eye on if switched to sand this winter. The disappointment was market leader Smart Step, who has thrived in testing ground thisautumn but she was a long way below her best for no apparent reason from this 6lb higher mark. [RY] QUOTES Trainer Declan Carroll: "Watts Up Son is a hard ride as he needs plenty of stoking up. He needs to lead otherwise he can spit it out, and he'll now probably have a run or two at Southwell. ".
